JAPS LOSE 22 SHIPS, 15,000 MEN AS ALLIES SMASH BIG CONVOY

U. S. FORTRESS PLANES POUND GERMAN BASES

Rotterdam in Holland and Essen Targets of Big Daylight Raids.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 4—U. S. Flying Fortresses raided docks and industrial areas of Rotterdam and Essen and railroads at the German city of Hamm by daylight today following a heavy RAF attack last night on Hamburg in the round-the-clock air offensive.

Two bombers failed to return, but 14 enemy planes were destroyed. Results were declared good despite adverse weather conditions.

A communique announced the operations against the Netherlands port and Hamm, 140 miles to the east.

Dispatches from the allied base from which the Rotterdam raid was sprung said that all those bombers returned with but negligible damage and it described German fighter defenses as weak.

The Berlin radio, however, broadcast a report by DNB that seven multi-engined American bombers were shot down during the morning over western Germany.

Nazis Raid London

The allied blows were disclosed in the wake of two Nazi night raids upon London. Ten British bombers failed to return from the assault upon Hamburg and associated forays against other targets in western Germany, which marked the eighth successive night attack on the continent.

This was the first American raid on Hamm, a six-way junction point for the German rail network. The German city, however, has been the target of 84 RAF assaults, all but two of them during the dark days between June and November, 1940, when the invasion threat hung over Britain.

The Rotterdam raid was the third by the U. S. fliers and the 83d allied blow of the war there.

The United States communique said "our aircraft were engaged by a strong force of enemy aircraft on the return journey and many encounters ensued. Information available indicates 14 enemy aircraft were destroyed."

Five of our bombers are missing."

The attack on Hamburg, heavily battered since the beginning of the war, followed a large scale assault Monday night on Berlin. Hamburg has been visited by RAF bombers nearly 100 times and was heavily attacked Feb. 4, when 16 of the British planes failed to return.

Radio Off Air

Danish radio stations suddenly broke off transmission shortly after noon today, indicating the round-the-clock allied assault on German strongholds was being carried into another day.

Red Cross Drive Reports Indicate Good Response

Advance reports from workers in the Red Cross war fund drive for $36,000 from Marion county show that a good start has been made, Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary of the Marion County Red Cross chapter, said this morning.

Many residential sections have gone over their quotas.

First formal reports will be made tonight at 7:30 in the war fund headquarters at 130 East Center street, with J. D. Torrance, drive chairman, in charge. All workers have been urged to report at the headquarters by 7:30. At 7:45 there will be a report broadcast over Station WMRN from the Victory House on the courthouse grounds.

Shortage of paper and lack of facilities to "string" the wartime lapel tabs which the Red Cross is issuing this year to contributors instead of the metal tabs of former years, has caused a shortage of tabs locally and nationally, Miss Plack reported.

While most of the industries have been supplied, there are not enough tabs for the business and residential district. However, all contributors will receive window stickers and membership cards will be given those whose contributions are at least one dollar.

Two recordings were made yesterday by members of the staff of WMRN. One, made at the production center on South State street, will be broadcast Friday night at 8:05 and the other, made at the surgical dressing center in the Elks lodge hall, will be broadcast Sunday at 1:05 p. m.

PACIFIC NEWS IN SPOTLIGHT

Jap Setback Vies for Attention with Other Matters of Domestic Interest.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Speculation over the strategic import of a major Japanese setback in the South Pacific today vied for capital attention with labor, manpower, draft, food and other war time problems as President Roosevelt noted his tenth anniversary in the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt's tenth anniversary in the historic house on Pennsylvania avenue brought scattered fourth term talk from Democratic ranks — apparently without encouragement from him.

Effects of the war on the home heard the question of what has happened to the nation's meat supply sounded in consumer quarters; issuance of a corrective statement from War Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt that local boards are still under orders not to draft fathers, and a senate fight brewing over legislation for blanket deferment of farm workers.

To Oppose Bill

Although senate strength seemed to be on the side of some form of draft deferment for farm workers, Chairman Truman (D-Mo) of the war investigating committee said passage of Senator Bankhead's (D-Ala) measure to provide such deferment would mean "we might as well repeal the selective service act," and served notice he would oppose it on the floor.

The war labor board found itself caught between the criticism of its own members and that of aircraft unions as the result of a new wage order.

After granting slight pay increases to west coast aircraft workers, the WLB was criticized by minority members for what they variously termed attempts to "freeze" pay and "stabilization bungling." Labor union spokesmen charged the board with inconsistency, saying the slight increases fell short of the "little steel" cost-of-living formula.

Meat Supply Question

The meat supply query was raised when food authorities failed to deny reports that civilians will get an average of only about 1¾ pounds of meat weekly under rationing, despite agricul-

New War Training Classes Opening; One Begun, Others Set for Monday

The Marion Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with Ohio State university and the public schools, is announcing the opening of war training classes in personnel management, metallurgy of iron and steel, production control and industrial safety engineering.

The class in personnel management, which started last night at Harding High school, will be instructed by Stanley Luke of the Scioto Ordnance Plant. The purpose is to give training in the fundamentals of personnel management to shop supervisors and personnel workers. The course includes the field of personnel management, development of personnel organization, recruiting, selection and placement, health and safety, discipline, labor relations and job training. Requirements are high school graduate or suitable industrial experience and a knowledge of shop management. The class was held in Room 14.

The class in metallurgy of iron and steel is being given at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. plant for employes of the plant, with J. E. Scandling, metallurgist, as the instructor. The purpose is to train men employed in the iron and steel industry in the fundamental knowledge of metallurgy, blast and open hearth furnaces, Bessemer converters, introduction to physical metallurgy, iron carbon diagram, physical properties of iron and steel, heat treating and annealing.

Classes in production control II will start next Monday at Harding High school and will include a study of case problems in factory organization and other industries. All classes will be held two nights a week and two hours a night for 12 weeks.

The class in industrial safety engineering also will start Monday and will be held at Harding High school two nights each week, three hours a night for 16 weeks. The purpose of this course is to promote safety and train industrial safety leaders.

2 MORROW CO. MEN KILLED IN COLLISION

Auto-Train Crash Near Vandalia Fatal to Both.

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON March 4—Two Morrow county men, Arthur Dye, 25, of Marengo and M. L. Mowery, 36, of near Chesterville, were killed yesterday when a passenger train struck the truck in which they were hauling supplies for the airport under construction at Vandalia where they were employed.

The accident happened at 11:45 a. m. a mile south of Vandalia at a Baltimore and Ohio crossing. The truck, traveling south, was struck. The two men were taken to a hospital in Dayton but died on arrival there. The Jacobs ambulance from Mt. Gilead brought the bodies to the funeral home here.

Dye is survived by his wife, Mrs. M. L. Mowery, and children, Richard, Rose Marie and Vernon and by parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Dye of east of Marengo.

ROMMEL SHIFTS FORCE TO MEET EIGHTH ARMY

Armored Units Sent South; Allies Forced Back in Northern Tunisia.

By The Associated Press

Marshal Erwin Rommel has shifted at least a part of his armored forces to southern Tunisia to meet the British Eighth army along the Mareth line, allied headquarters in North Africa announced today, but in the north the drive of Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim forced a four-mile allied withdrawal near the sea.

The change of emphasis from the central to the southern Tunisian fronts by the German chieftain was further indicated by field reports received at allied headquarters that American and British forces, retracing the path of their recent defeat, had occupied Sidi Bouzid, only about 10 miles from Feid pass, without meeting opposition.

Renewed axis attacks in northern Tunisia forced a four-mile withdrawal of the allied line in the Sedjenane sector while allied patrols following Marshal Rommel's retreat in the central sector reentered Sidi Bouzid, before strategic Feid Pass, without opposition, field dispatches said today.

Col. Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim's forces gained ground in the Sedjenane area only at the expense of very heavy casualties and "attacks in other areas were all successfully repulsed," said a communique from allied headquarters.

8th Army Engages Enemy

At the same time it was announced light armored forces of the British Eighth army had engaged and repulsed enemy infantry striking east of Mareth, an anchor of the fortified line in southern Tunisia.

"The enemy has reinforced his infantry with tanks in this area," the communique added.

"On the night of March 2-3," it said, "targets at Tunis and objectives near Mareth were bombed. Yesterday our bombers attacked air fields at Tunis and made raids on enemy landing grounds in the Gabes area. Hits were seen on all the targets attacked, particularly among aircraft on the ground."

Three axis aircraft were reported destroyed in air combat and three allied planes are missing.

Surveys Disclose More Rides Shared Before Rationing

There was a higher per-car occupancy in Marion before mileage rationing than there is under the rationing program, it was revealed in a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Present were personnel managers of several Marion industries, Arthur S. Zachman, executive secretary of the war transportation committee, Roy Waddell, chief of the block leader system, Robert Holaday of Division 6 of the state highway department, and V. J. Hopkins, former Marion man who is now in the division of traffic and safety in the Columbus office of the highway department.

Same Locations Checked

Both surveys were made at the same locations in the city, one in the downtown business district, one on West Center street and one in front of Station WMRN north of Marion.

The three locations surveyed Nov. 27 and 30, 1942, showed an average car occupancy of 1.87 persons per car, according to figures compiled by Mr. Holaday, and on Feb. 4-5 the same locations showed a car occupancy of 1.66 persons per car.

C. C. Holliday, executive secretary of the Marion county rationing board, who had intended to be at the meeting, was in conference with state rationing officials and could not be present.

Won't Push Plan

There was a general discussion of the entire mileage rationing program, in which the general feeling was expressed that under the present rationing laws, a stringent share-the-ride program cannot be evolved.

Mr. Zachman complimented the personnel men highly on the way they have worked out transportation problems in their industries and said that any future meeting of the war transportation committee would be at his call.

Soviet Advance Threatens Big German Base At Orel

Nazis Report Some Breaks in Line Defending Bastion of North and South Fronts.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 4—The Russians said the Red army continued today to pursue German forces which fled their defense citadel at Rzhev, and under appalling weather conditions Soviet troops plowed forward west and northwest of Kursk to heighten their menace to Orel, the hinge bastion between the central and southern fronts.

(The Berlin radio reported Russian forces had made "local breaches" in the axis positions on the flanks of the front around Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow.)

Besides endangering Orel, operations northwest of Kursk, 80 miles south of that city, pointed a spear toward Bryansk, which has been the Nazis' main supply base for central front operations.

The capture of Dmitriev-Lgovsky, announced in a special communique last night along with capture of Rzhev and Lgov, placed the Red army columns about 45 miles from the Bryansk railway through Konotop to Kiev, capital of the Ukraine.

Dmitriev-Lgovsky is 85 miles southwest of Bryansk on the Bryansk-Lgov railway, 50 miles northwest of Kursk and 65 miles southwest of Orel.

On Way To Kiev

Konotop, one of the German strongholds on the path to Kiev, already is threatened by a Russian advance which carried west of Sumy, 70 miles southeast of Konotop.

The Russian noon communique said German counterattacks and attempts to set up new defense lines southwest of Rzhev were being smashed by Soviet troops, and the Russian advance continued with the capture of 111 more towns.

The Russians declared 2,000 German dead were counted after Rzhev fell.

Izvestia, the government newspaper, said railway communication with Velikie Luki, 150 miles to the west, soon would be resumed and that by spring the first ships would begin to operate on the Volga, which cuts through the city and runs to the Caspian sea.

Capture of Rzhev, 120 miles west of Moscow, ended another ever-present menace to Moscow and the communications between central and northern Russia.

By driving the Germans westward here as well as on the northwestern front, the Red army took steps toward the liberation of a territorially vast and strategically important area.

REVEAL MEAT RATION PLANS

Same Coupons Also To Be Used for Cheese, Butter, Lard, Cooking Fats.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—The government plans to ration meats, butter, margarine, cheese, lard and other cooking fats and oils under a single set of coupons in ration book No. 2.

This was learned today from informed authorities who withheld use of their names and it coincided with the raising of the question of what has happened to the nation's meat supply in view of undenied reports that civilians will get an average of only about 1¾ pounds of meat weekly under rationing.

Each of the meat, butter, cheese and fat products is to be assigned point values, as in the case of canned and processed fruits and vegetables.

The points will be interchangeable. That is, a consumer could use all his points for the purchase of any one of these commodities or for any combination.

For example, a consumer could use all his points for the purchase of meats if he did not want or need butter, cheese and cooking fats and oils. Or if he did not want meats, he could use all the points for any of the other products.

Rationing of these foods has been scheduled to start April 1, but food authorities who may not be quoted said, today it may be delayed until April 15.

It was learned food officials had hoped to handle the rationing of meats, butter, and the cooking fats and oils under separate sets of coupons. However, ration book No. 2 was held not suited for such a plan, and officials decided it would take too long to prepare and distribute new ones, particularly when supplies of these foods are being consumed at a greater rate than the overall supply situation is believed to warrant.

The point values of these products were not disclosed; neither was the number of points which will be assigned each consumer.

Officials said supplies of meats to be made available for civilians under the rationing system was expected to be the equivalent of 12½ pounds weekly. They said, however, the per capita supply was expected to be larger next fall.

Rationing will be started at a season of the year when meat slaughtering normally declines, inasmuch as no large reserves beyond military and lend-lease needs have been accumulated it will be necessary, officials explained, to make the meat allowance smaller at the start than later in the year, when slaughtering increases again. It was said

INCOME TAX OFFICE OPEN EXTRA HOURS

Schedule Announced as Filing Time Nears End.

The office of internal revenue will be open every day next week from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., including noon and evening meal hours, to accommodate persons who have not yet filed their 1942 income tax returns.

This week the office, located on the second floor of the Citizens building at West Center and Prospect streets, will be open until 6 p. m. daily.

Monday, March 15, last day for filing returns, the office will be open from 8 a. m. until midnight.

H. D. Sherrer, deputy collector in charge of the office, said business has picked up considerably this week, with a steady stream of visitors throughout the day.

COUNTY'S FIRST DIMOUT SET

Planned for Monday Night After Civilian Defense Official Visits Marion.

First countywide dimout will be staged Monday night.

Announcement was made today following a brief visit here last night of Raymond J. Lewis of Columbus, district supervisor of the Ohio State Defense Council.

Mr. Lewis, who met with city and county civilian defense workers at the control center in the old North State Street school, was interested primarily in learning whether the outlying communities of the county are prepared to keep in constant contact with their field forces as well as the control center here. All communities except Green Camp, Caledonia and Agosta were represented, according to William R. Martin, coordinator of CD in Marion.

Local CD officials will inspect the dimout in all communities.

Only difference between a dimout and a blackout is that in a dimout street and traffic lights remain on and traffic is permitted to move with headlights dimmed.

All lights on places of business and in the residential district must be extinguished.

Mr. Martin said the time of the dimout will not be announced but that it will be "some time from dusk on."

ROOSEVELT MARKS 10TH ANNIVERSARY

President Prays for Power To Combat Evil.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4 — President Roosevelt observed the tenth anniversary of his elevation to the presidency today by praying at special religious services that God "grant us grace fearlessly to contend against evil and to make no peace with oppression."

The services, which have been held every March 4 since the Chief Executive took office in 1933, were in the east room of the White House, with high officials of the government, friends and members of the President's family participating.

The prayers were the standard supplications from the Episcopal book of common prayer and were led by Lieut. Frank R. Wilson, a Navy chaplain at Norfolk, Va., who is on leave of absence as rector of Mr. Roosevelt's home church at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Among those attending the services were cabinet members, military and Navy leaders, heads of governmental agencies, congressional leaders and White House officials.

Observance of the anniversary came amid scattered fourth term talk in Democratic ranks.

Mention of a fourth term was made in what was described as a very casual manner at a White House conference yesterday. Chairman Frank C. Walker of the Democratic national committee took 12 other officers and committee members to see the Chief Executive. Walker said afterward in response to questioning that "two or three" members told the President he "should" or would "have to be" a candidate next year if the war still was on.

"But they got no response from the President," he added. "I don't think he heard it as he was doing most of the talking. If he did he smiled it off. It was said rather lightly and there was no discussion."

55 JAPANESE PLANES LOST IN SEA BATTLE

Gen. MacArthur Reports Allied Losses as One Fortress and Three Fighters.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, March 4—An entire convoy of 22 Japanese ships, including 10 cruisers or destroyers, has been virtually annihilated in the Bismarck sea and 15,000 Japanese warriors bound for the battlefields of New Guinea have been wiped out "almost to a man" by airmen of the southwest Pacific command, an allied communique announced proudly today.

The amazing victory, the bulletin said, was achieved at the cost of only three allied fighters and one bomber, while 55 Japanese planes protecting the powerful armada were shot out of the fight and many others damaged. Thirty-three of the 55 were listed as certainly destroyed and 22 as "probables."

In addition to the 15,000 ground troops killed or drowned in the furious allied onslaught several thousand Japanese naval personnel probably lost their lives, a spokesman said.

The daring and persistent two-day aerial attack—one of the great plane-versus-ship battles of the war—"completely dislocated" the Japanese campaign, the communique said. It obviously reduced the threat to Australia.

"We have achieved a victory of such completeness as to assume the proportions of a major disaster to the enemy," the communique said, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur added that "doubtful providence must have guarded us in this great victory."

Total of 90,000 Tons

The enemy transports and warships represented an estimated tonnage of 90,000 tons.

"All are sunk or sinking," the communique said. "His (the enemy's) air coverage of this naval force has been decimated and dispersed. 55 of his planes having been shot out of combat and many others damaged. His ground forces, estimated at probably 15,000, destined to attack in New Guinea have been sunk or killed almost to a man."

The action was executed brilliantly under extreme weather hazards and extended from the Vitiaz straits, between the Bismarck archipelago and the New Guinea coast, south to Huon gulf on which the Japanese bases of Lae and Salamaua are situated. The convoy started from Rabaul, New Britain, and originally consisted of 14 ships. Eight more vessels joined it yesterday shortly before the final, concentrated allied attack.

The convoy was first attacked Tuesday. Yesterday, when the last of the 22 ships was turned into a burning, listing hulk, more than 100 tons of bombs had been dropped by the allied airmen, and, as the communique said, "the entire force was practically destroyed."

"Our air force in all categories constantly attacked throughout the day and ship after ship was again and again hit with heavy bombs from low altitudes," the communique related.

"Enemy air coverage became weaker and weaker; his forces

Washington Studies Effect on War of Allied Victory Over Jap Convoy

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Destruction of a strong New Guinea-bound Japanese convoy by allied pilots punching out history's greatest air triumph over a naval surface force aroused quick elation among military officials here today—but little immediate speculation as to its probable long-range effect on the Pacific war.

Without minimizing importance of the aerial blow which sank or disabled 22 ships, wiped out 15,000 troops aboard and shot down 55 protecting planes, still they wanted to know such details as what type of warships were destroyed before trying to reckon the significance on future strategy.

It seemed clear, however, that the battle—presumably the biggest victory by land-based bombers over surface ships—at least had temporarily dispersed any threat of immediate attack on Australia, stressed the importance of the circular "southern front" being set up in far Pacific areas, and demonstrated anew the dual importance of holding Guadalcanal, the right flank of that new front.

The triumph was comparable to the mid-November Solomons sea battle which cost the Japanese some 30,000 to 50,000 men and 38 ships, and broke the back of their drive to regain Guadalcanal.

Only last Sunday Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, said "we are now at the crossroads of the Pacific campaign," and pointed out that driving the enemy from island strongholds would be the first step toward eventual bombing and shelling of the industrial heart of Japan itself.

Whether the triumph reported from allied headquarters in Australia indicates that "another Guadalcanal" is impending in New Guinea remains to be seen.

Much depends on whether the Japanese can get new reinforcements through to Lae, where allied ground forces are closing in.

If all 22 convoy ships subsequently sank, it brought the unofficial total of Jap losses since Pearl Harbor to 510 ships of all types, according to Associated Press tabulations. Navy records set U. S. Pacific losses at 94 ships.

Ration Questions Answered

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, (March 4)—Answers to some of the government questions which readers have raised since the start of point rationing of canned fruit, vegetables, fruit and vegetable juices and dried beans follow:

Q. I buy all my food from the same grocer and order all my food by phone. May I make my ration book at the store and authorize the dealer to remove stamps for the food I order?

A. Yes, you may authorize your dealer to act as your agent in detaching stamps from your ration book.

Q. What can I do if I get a spoiled can of food from my grocer?

A. Return it, and ask him to give you a perfect can to replace it.

Q. Suppose I accidentally buy a can of food for which I had not surrendered a ration stamp, should my dealer replace it?

A. No. The loss for broken containers is yours. You are responsible for the stamps.

Q. If I make a surplus of canned corn and canned tomatoes may I exchange these for foods I need but do not have?

A. Yes, you may exchange canned foods of equal point value in your grocer if he will sign, or with neighbors and friends.

Q. If I have no need to buy rationed foods during the first month of rationing may I save stamps to use when I need them?

A. No. Point stamps become invalid at the end of each ration period just like stamps for sugar and coffee.

Q. Are the smallest size cans of food rationed?

A. Yes, even the smallest size cans of foods are rationed if they contain foods included in the rationing program.

Q. Is it more economical for me to buy dry or canned beans?

A. If you can use either, dry beans are more economical from standpoint of ration points, since they increase in bulk when they are soaked for use.

Q. What should be done with the point ration book of men going into service?

A. Ration books of men going into service—providing they eat at an Army mess—should be returned to local war price and ration boards.

Q. If ration books of men eating at an Army mess are turned back to the war price and ration boards, now can families get food for them when they are home on leave?

A. If they are home for a week or more, local boards will issue them ration certificates for the length of their leave if they present their furlough papers.

Q. Do men in the merchant marine turn in their ration books to their local boards when they ship out on a trip?

A. Yes. These books are surrendered to the board if the sailor is leaving the country for 30 days or more. When he returns home he may get the book from the board for use while in the United States.

DRAFT PLAN IS CLARIFIED

Earlier Statement on Calling Fathers Corrected by McNutt.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Corrected earlier statement of Lewis B. McNutt of the selective service commission says local boards still were under instructions to draft men with dependent children until they received notification from national selective service headquarters.

McNutt's press conference Monday

McNutt said he knew of no such restrictions on the local boards and declared "quite a number" of fathers of children were being taken.

In a clarifying statement issued today, McNutt said the only men with children being inducted were those whose dependency was acquired after Dec. 8, 1941, or at a time when draft selection was imminent.

"Those registrants having wives and children, or children only, with whom they maintain a bona fide home, and who were married before Dec. 8, 1941, and at a time when selection was not imminent, may not be inducted through selective service until there is a direct authorization by national headquarters," McNutt's statement said.

To Protect Home

The regulations have been designed, McNutt said, "to protect the bona fide family relationship as long as possible" to the extent that it is practicable to do this and still meet the requirements of the armed services for 10,800,000 men by this year and also supply the manpower needs of war industries.

However, after April 1 men who work in any of the "non-deferrable" occupations listed last month will have 30 days to transfer to essential jobs or to register with the U. S. employment service before being placed in class 1-A.

(Informed official sources said yesterday it was a "reasonably good guess" that local boards in some areas would have to start drafting fathers on May 1; that is, as soon as they became available under the "non-deferrable" rule. Boards generally probably will be inducting fathers by early summer, these officials predicted.)

In reclassifying men with dependents into 1-A, the boards will follow this procedure, McNutt said:

First, the supply of single men who are without dependents and who are not deferred as necessary in their occupations will be exhausted in a local board area.

To Review Lists

Then local board will review the classifications of the 3-A or 3-B registrants to determine which should be reclassified 1-A and which should be further deferred for occupational reasons or because induction would cause undue hardship on dependents.

"Because of varying conditions in local board areas, as well as in different states," McNutt added, "it has been necessary to call registrants with dependents in some states while single men were still available in others; and in local board areas in some states before all other local boards in the same state had exhausted their pools of single men."

The Brenner Pass, between Italy and Germany, has been called the "Thermopylae of the Tyrol."

WAR-WORKER and housewife, Elsie Chadbourne, Lynn, Mass., has earned a $100 bonus for suggesting a formula for dissolving coil wrappings during a stage in the production of aircraft devices in a General Electric plant. Mrs. Chadbourne's "recipe" will save vital war materials.

MIAMI TO TRAIN WAVES

By The Associated Press

OXFORD, O., March 4—The Navy will send 400 WAVES, Navy woman's auxiliary members, to Miami university for training in radio, Dr. A. H. Upham, Miami's president, announced. The first 100 WAVES will arrive April 19. The school already is training 600 Navy radio men.

MARION SERVICE MAN'S LETTER IN HISTORY FILE

First from County Going into Permanent Record.

The first of what is hoped will be a series of Marion county service men's letters was sent this week to the Ohio War History Commission in Columbus for preservation in the permanent historical records of the state at the Ohio State Museum.

It was written by John G. Hoffman, Marion seaman second class, from the Naval Training School at the University of Chicago, in which he tells of the assistance the USO has given him, typical of the help it furnishes all men in service. The letter was addressed to The Star.

Marion county residents may preserve a niche in the state's history for their service-man relative or friend by making letters from service men available to the Marion county chairman of the War History Commission, H. S. Elliott, managing editor of The Star. Original letters recording any phase of Marion county's contribution to the war effort are wanted for inclusion in the state's permanent war history files. Only original letters are being accepted, not copies.

Brown Is Grateful for Help of Teachers

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4 — Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown yesterday voiced his gratitude for the "great and distinguished service" rendered by school teachers and school officials in the national registration for war ration book two.

"Once more teachers and school administrators have rallied to the herculean task of registering American consumers for ration books," Brown wrote in a letter to John W. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education. "They have given unselfishly of their time and spirit to fulfill this patriotic task.

"With war ration book two, they have undertaken more than the distribution of buying coupons. They have helped millions of Americans to understand the 'why and how' of the point system.

"In commending the great and distinguished service I am sure that I voice the thanks of a grateful nation to the boys and girls in schools of America."

DEALERS PENALIZED

CLEVELAND, March 4 — Two Cleveland gasoline dealers, convicted of violating office of price administration regulations by accepting coupons from "A" ration books before they were valid, were ordered to close their [illegible] sales for one week by the regional OPA.

Measure To Provide Bridge Guards Approved

COLUMBUS, O., March 4 — The senate highways committee today unanimously favored passage of a bill providing for 200 auxiliary police to guard bridges and other strategic installations against sabotage. The officers would be paid out of funds to pay salaries, under state highway patrol supervision.

The measure provides that auxiliaries could not make arrests outside their immediate assignments and could not be used as peace officers in strikes or labor disputes.

The bill now goes to the finance committee for consideration.

Save that old Living Room Suite, that fine old Easy Chair— Have it Revitabilt
Honestly, you will never believe what a beautiful suite you may have by just choosing a brand new cover and making over that fine old suite of yours.
That suite for which you paid a great big price ten, fifteen or twenty years ago can be made more lovely than new by having it Revitabilt right in a factory that has been making fine suites for more than 50 years.
This Revitabilt service is no make-shift patch work. Your suite is torn down to the bare wood. The wood is strengthened and exposed parts refinished by expert mechanics.
Then the new cover is sewed on by master upholsterers. You won't recognize the old suite when it comes back to you.
Would you like the names of some of the fine homes in which we have already placed Revitabilt suites? That will convince you. We will be glad to give you the names if you will just stop in.
The folks who have tried this unusual service are might glady they did. And so will you be, too.

WAR GUARD BILL OKAYED

Measure Provides Protection for Bridges and Other Facilities.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 4 — A substitute bill to create a state highway patrol auxiliary, much more limited in scope than the original measure, came out of the senate highways committee today.

The proposal recommended for passage would authorize creation of a force of not more than 200 men to guard vital facilities, such as dams, bridges and buildings, owned by the state or its political subdivisions and located on the state highway system.

The original proposal, recommended for passage and then withdrawn, proposed an auxiliary of unlimited size with more police power than that possessed by the highway patrol itself, and with authority to guard nearly all types of war facility.

Not Peace Officers

The new bill specifies that members of the auxiliary could not be used as peace officers in any labor dispute.

As the highways committee was disposing of the bill, introduced by Sen. I. E. Baker (R-Montgomery), the house passed, 122 to 1, a bill cutting the maximum interest rate on small loans and setting up more rigid qualifications for lending companies. The dissenting vote was cast by Rep. Howard Metzenbaum (R-Cuyahoga.)

The maximum interest rate, now 3 per cent a month on amounts up to $300, would be made 3 per cent on the first $150, 2 per cent on the next $150. Lending companies would be required to post $2,000 bond with the state securities division and applicants for new licenses would have to show assets of $10,000.

Rep. Clifton L. Caryl (R-Union), author of the bill, estimated it would save borrowers $1,900,000 a year.

The senate approved and sent to the governor a bill extending the two-cents-a-package cigaret tax for two years. It is expected to yield $10,500,000 in the biennium.

The senate also received a bill under which boys and girls, 15 or older, could be employed in occupations approved by their parents, the superintendent of schools and the probate judge.

A proposal to classify hatcheries as an agricultural enterprise, up for a vote in the house, was returned to the committee when Rep. Paul H. Ballard (R-Jackson) declared it was an attempt to exempt them from payment of unemployment insurance taxes.

The house passed to the senate a bill which would reduced from 6 per cent to 3 the interest which utilities pay on consumers' deposits.

Recommends Passage

The senate finance committee recommended passage of administration legislation continuing for two years the $12,000,000 annual government grants to local governments after rejecting pleas of county officials for more money.

George Guckenberger, Hamilton county auditor, said the state's revenue from the sales tax — of which the cities and counties once received 40 per cent after deductions for administration and poor relief — had increased $62,000,000 since 1938. The local government, he added, have received only $4,000,000 of the increase.

Others who petitioned for an increase in revenue were Walter Wright of Lorain county, president of the state association of county treasurers; Paul Baden, Butler county prosecutor, and J. Gordon McKay of Cleveland.

The house highways committee recommended passage of legislation which would empower the state highway director to establish state speed limits for war conservation purposes.

[illegible]

[illegible] TUESDAY MARCH [illegible]

Ten Years of Emergency

THE DECADE [illegible] emergency [illegible] plenty while [illegible] industrial activity rate had reached [illegible] that great numbers of the people [illegible] confronted with the threat of starvation in the midst of an abundance of food, [illegible] no battle fear so much than want of collective determination under aggressive leadership to something about it. As incoming chief executive and leader of a coalition party with a mandate to act and the strength to do whatever it chose to do, Mr. Roosevelt began to try to revitalize the United States.

He improvised his procedure. More accurately, he permitted the improvisations of many others to be put into effect under his executive authority. Those improvisations, often in conflict but tending generally toward substitution of political control for private control, became the New Deal. The coalition of conservative Democrats and radicals which had supplied the electoral votes to elect Mr. Roosevelt began to stage within itself the contest for power and prestige that now threatens to hamstring the government by staging a showdown in congress as its battleground. After 10 years of high-handing his political opposition in the Republican party, Mr. Roosevelt now finds himself in the peculiar predicament of depending on Republicans to save his effectuality in office from the consequences of bickering within his own party.

Gone now is the low rate of activity that threatened the country in 1933. Gone are the New Deal, the attacks on management, the anguished promises to lift the lowest third, the name-calling, the purging, the pump-priming, the leaf-raking, boondoggling, reforming and deficit worrying. Everything the government sought to do for 10 years in the way of increasing activity suddenly was done for it by the beginning of war. The problem now is to find enough hands for all the jobs that must be done and to persuade people with more money than can be spent for a disappearing supply of civilian goods not to commit economic suicide by bidding up price. Assigned to the problem are many of the officials who formerly were preoccupied with its antithesis; working with them and under them are many men borrowed from private enterprise for the duration of the war emergency. Previously, the Roosevelt administration had borrowed men to deal with the depression emergency, and there is talk already of plans and organizations for dealing with the post-war peace emergency. Government by emergency is the one uncontested result of the last decade.

Judgment on the Roosevelt decade as a whole never has been withheld for reasons of modesty or moderation. It has been called by enthusiasts the beginning of a new era. Critics, at their mildest have seen it as the end of an old one, and extremists and have called it the greatest of American tragedies. But there are contemporary opinions subject to heavy discount. Interest in them is blanketed, moreover, by the outcome of American participation in the war, which is now the focus of popular attention on government. At the end of his first 10 years, Mr. Roosevelt in his role of commander-in-chief has supplanted Mr. Roosevelt in his role of leader of bloodless revolution.

Rationing, a Local Problem

THE FIRST few days of experience with canned goods rationing indicate that it, too, is going to prove to be a local problem over the long pull, like most of the other rationing programs.

Wherever possible, the tendency will be for fresh produce to supplant canned goods, with the latter becoming substitutes. Where this is not possible, due to absence or failure of the fresh produce supply, canned goods rationing will compare in severity with fuel oil rationing in the east this winter. There will be, instead of inconvenience or merely the necessity of adjustment, actual hardship. Meanwhile, in better favored areas canned goods rationing will mean relatively little. Lack of flexibility however, will force the entire population to fit itself into the same pattern regardless of local characteristics. The [illegible] no dependence in canned goods [illegible] be entitled to the same rations as those who relied almost entirely on canned goods.

It will be the same inadvertence that caused mileage and fuel oil rationing to be applied in the same form to the wide open spaces where oil runs out of the ground and to metropolitan centers abundantly supplied with public transportation systems but remote from oil supplies. It will be in short, the fundamental error that has cursed almost every aspect of the attempt to administer government by remote control from Washington. Each new demonstration adds proof that the United States is too vast a country to be governed in the details of its living habits from a pin point in its eastern section.

THAT WILL COME LATER.

Nobody has thought to salute [illegible] my shoes have done for the nation's [illegible] op.—Brunswick News.

Administration Opposition to Farm Price Increases Believed Crumbling.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON [illegible] administration [illegible] price [illegible] have prepared [illegible] figures [illegible] according to the [illegible] farm price argument [illegible] they are offering [illegible]. These [illegible] date of [illegible] increases in the future and [illegible] farm [illegible] the [illegible] of farm [illegible] since the war began.

According to these tables, the cotton price [illegible] up 160 per cent from January, 1941 to January, 1943, while the cost of producing it was 38 per cent higher, hog prices up 113 per cent, cost up 25 per cent, beef cattle prices up 48 per cent, cost up 16 per cent, eggs up 89 per cent, cost up 40 per cent.

[illegible] farm [illegible] prices are supposed to be up 76 per cent, and the cost of producing them up only one-third as much, or 24 per cent.

Still Lack Meal Needs

And [illegible] no one has assured the farmer what he really needs—help in [illegible] fertilizer, and gasoline [illegible] legislative proposals [illegible] on buying higher prices on with further price [illegible].

It is [illegible] to the interest of the farmer or the worker to bring about price inflation. From any common-sense standpoint, you would think their opposing group price-wage claims would cancel each other out, because a farm price increase will necessitate another wage increase, and so on.

But, apparently, the political leaders of labor and farmer see only a temporary advantage at hand, and are unable to take the long range view.

A well managed national economy (the kind ardent New Dealers have longed for) seems to have been proved impossible again by these experiences. The theory of [illegible] anything from [illegible] into the [illegible] appeal that a [illegible] or earned [illegible] popularity, an [illegible] but [illegible] unfortunately put them [illegible].

What [illegible] automatically [illegible] of [illegible] might [illegible] pay [illegible] possible [illegible] experience.

Fear of Congress

Fear [illegible] among [illegible] of the deputy man-power director, Jim Byrnes, had held a press conference and told the world that congress would have to take the responsibility of wrecking the Wherett program because [illegible] appropriations, he [illegible] suffered a change of heart.

About [illegible] later, he called in [illegible] of the newsmen and wanted to have the statement canceled. Unable to do this he made it plain that he was speaking of his own responsibility and not of Mr. McNutt's.

Mr. Byrnes's [illegible] contrast sharply with the attitude of people like Bernard Mr. McNutt, whom they have called just about everything they can think of, both publicly and privately.

Size of Army

Congressional drive to limit the size of the Army is dwindling, as expected, and it now seems certain nothing along that line will [illegible] Congress dare not put its limited judgment up against the views of the staff. The Army will be 11,000,000. Heavy drafting will proceed.

Tax Developments

The house ways and means committee has followed the forecast in this column of Feb. 22, and adopted a 20 per cent withholding tax (we said 15 per cent) delaying indefinitely the various plans for another general increase. The committee action betrays the growing belief here that the government will do well to collect the taxes it has already enacted without imposing any more.

This program can be put through the house under a gag rule (preventing amendments) but what the senate will do to it is not yet clear. Certainly the Ruml plan will be more heartily

Why Not a Deal?

Russia Wants Us To Open a New Front in Europe, and We Want a New Front Against the Japs.

By DAMON RUNYON

SOME of our [illegible] military [illegible] claim that if the United States [illegible] Japan [illegible] out of Japan [illegible] the war in the Pacific [illegible].

But Siberia belongs to Russia, and [illegible] is not at war [illegible] Japan. The [illegible] deem it most [illegible] Uncle Joe [illegible] to permit us to [illegible] bases in Siberia, and [illegible] Russia and the United States are [illegible] war against Germany and Italy and [illegible] supposed to be regular pals.

I believe that under the new code of [illegible] conversations, since we [illegible] has come [illegible] war business, you are supposed to [illegible] the Nazis and Fascists as our enemies [illegible] Germans and Italians, lest you convey the impression that we are fighting all the people of those nations, not just the members of political parties mentioned. But I am [illegible] Germany and Italy right out loud because [illegible] of my readers may not be smartened up [illegible] these new distinctions.

I am also violating the new code by [illegible] speculating about this odd state of affairs that exists with reference to bases in Siberia. Somebody will probably step up and tell me I [illegible] am a complete moron and should keep my mouth closed on questions like this, because it [illegible] that in view of Uncle Joe's current [illegible] it would be positively rude to bring any [illegible] problems to his mind.

BUT, you see we have troubles, too. [illegible] them is maneuvering into position [illegible] good belt at Japan. Unless we get those [illegible] we may never achieve that position. There [illegible] other available land close enough to [illegible] us to connect handily with our Sunday [illegible]. In the meantime, it is within the realm of possibility that Japan might keep whittling [illegible] until we are down to a splinter.

Now Uncle Joe wants a second front in Europe, of which, in our relation of pals, we would be a part. No one can blame him for that desire because his country is fighting for its life. But our nation is also fighting for its life, and we would like a sort of a second front in Asia, which the bases would give us. It seems to me, simpleton that I am about such matters, that if Uncle Joe expects us to send our soldiers to die for him, he ought to be willing to give us a bit of land in exchange for their blood.

Of course I know all about the argument that if he gave us the bases, Japan would declare war on Russia and imperil her from another direction. That argument has been used with terrific effect in making our people regard the war in the Pacific as secondary to the defeat of Hitler, while all the while the danger to our own nation was increasing.

I SAY that with our air force swarming over Japan, out of Siberia, the Japs would be too busy to seek an additional war with Russia. We are fighting on two fronts now and Uncle Joe would like to see us on another, but he does not want to guarantee us a chance to win on one, nor does he suggest that he even cares. Yet if he helped us knock out Japan, his own safety would be cinched by the power that would be released to his aid.

You may not fancy Uncle Joe's politics, but I do not see how you can escape rating him one of the shrewdest men in the world and a great patriot to his homeland, because he is thinking only of that. He is shying away from any jackpots that might in the slightest degree increase his difficulties. The time has come for this nation to do some thinking along the same lines. Stalin says Russia is fighting alone in Europe. He seems willing to let us fight the same way in the Pacific.

Today and Tomorrow

Need Seen for Better Civilian Understanding About Future Size of Army.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK, March 4—Why does the size of the Army continue to be a subject of debate in congress and in the country?

The reason, I submit, is that the war department has been left to prove its own case. The Army is a claimant on the man power of the nation. Though there is no reason to doubt that the Army's claims are in fact sound, they will not seem sound to every one so long as the Army appears to be the judge as well as the advocate of its own claims.

That, I believe, is the difficulty today. It must be overcome. For in order to support the Army which the war department has decided it needs, the nation must make a very great effort. In order to get the nation to make this great effort, the people must be convinced that the Army's plans are sound.

The Army itself cannot convince all of the people. That can be accomplished only if the people are persuaded that the Army's case has been reviewed and passed upon by men of sound judgment and full information who are outside of the war department, and above it.

Lack War Council

The dispute exists because there is no organ for the conduct of the war—call it a war cabinet or a war council or what you like—to which all the claimants for man power and materials have to prove their case.

Persuasive and deeply respected as Gen. Marshall is, the reason he has to keep urging about the size of the Army is that congress and the country do not really think that the cases of the Army, of war industry, or agriculture, have yet been passed upon by thoroughly competent judges who survey the whole problem.

This has to be said: It is said without the slightest implication that the Army's case would not be upheld if it had been reviewed by such a war cabinet. I have heard nothing to make any one think it would not be.

The case will not have been authoritatively judged until the President shows the country that in approving the war department's plan, he has acted upon a judgment given to him by men who have heard all the claimants and do not represent as advocates any of the claimants.

Many of the arguments thus far advanced against the size of the projected Army will not stand up to examination. Thus it has been said that the Army is larger than we can transport with the shipping we have. But this is a wholly fallacious argument. It takes at least a year to train a soldier, and longer to train combat divisions.

The Army we are now talking about in 1943 is the Army of 1944. It is the Army we shall be able to use when we have opened the Mediterranean, and saved the equivalent of hundreds of ships by shortening the distance to the front in Europe and through India into the Asiatic theater.

Our Later Needs

It is the Army we shall want when the bombers have battered German industry for another 12 months, when the Navy's anti-submarine campaign is being fought with all the equipment that is needed, when the German submarine bases in Norway and France have been recaptured or at least partially paralyzed, when Burma is reconquered and China, Siam and Indo-China have been opened up.

We must, in short, plan a victorious Army, one which, as the enemy's defenses are breached, can drive through them with ever increasing force. The number of men who can be used to drive Rommel out of Africa or the Japanese out of Burma is relatively small. But the number who can be used when these preliminary victories have been won is very much larger. These larger armies to exploit the successes of the advance guard must be ready to take a complete victory out of a preliminary victory.

The civilians will meet the demands when they understand them. Therefore in presenting its case the administration must not only be right; it must carry the conviction that there is no reasonable doubt that it is right.

Associated Press Features

A major objective of recent British and U. S. bombing raids on Hitler-held Europe has been to destroy the lairs of the Nazis' rattlesnakes of the Atlantic. Here are photos of the Nazi submarine base at Lorient, France. The Germans are now building huge submarines about 250 feet long. Ships of this size, says the U. S. Navy, require pens of approximately 300 feet long. The best information is that these pens are constructed of concrete with roofs 12 to 15 feet in depth, sidewalls at least eight feet thick.

Your Income Tax

NO. 52—CHECKING DELINQUENTS

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has at its command many sources for checking up delinquent taxpayers. One of these is the "information at source" provision of the Internal Revenue Code, under which persons, "in whatever capacity acting," are required to report on Form 1099, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C., payments of fixed or determinable income to another in the calendar year of 1942 of $500 or more. If the recipient is married, and is a citizen or resident of the United States, reports need not be made of salary or other compensation for personal services unless the payments aggregate $1,200 or more. If the marital status of the payee is unknown to the payor, the payee is considered a single person for the purpose of filing an information return of salary or other compensation for personal services.

Fixed or determinable income includes wages, salaries, royalties, premiums, rent, interest, etc. A separate return of information for each employee is required of employers. The requirements are not limited to periodical payments but a single payment must be reported. Domestic and resident foreign corporations are required to make a separate report. Form 1099, of dividends or distributions for each individual, citizen, or resident of the United States, receiver, fiduciary, or a resident partnership any member of which is a citizen or resident, who was paid $100 or more during the calendar year 1942.

So They Say—

The relation of farm costs to farm income is the most favorable ever attained in our history. Between 1939 and 1942 total costs of farm production increased by 38 per cent. Farm production increased by 20 per cent. During the same period farm prices rose on the average 71 per cent.—Economic Director James F. Byrnes.

The non-deferrable list is simply a way of saying that in a global war we can get along more easily without ornamental jewelry than we can without food or tanks.—Manpower Director Paul V. McNutt.

There is danger that we shall be defeated together to make the peace with as many parties as there are governments.—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles.

This (victory) will not happen in 1943 if we allow our policy to be dictated by those who believe that the Russians are going to win the war for us without further help from us.—President Roosevelt.

It is now largely a choice between married men and vital workers. We are scraping the bottom of the barrel on single men.—Manpower Director Paul V. McNutt.

Today the great successes of the Russian front have led thousands of Americans to throw their hats in the air and proclaim that victory is just around the corner. We still face many trials and misfortunes.—President Roosevelt.

A record number of marriages in the province de Quebec for the first six months of 1943 equaled the total for the whole year 1939.

OHIO BLACKOUT TEST SET FOR TONIGHT

Northern Ohio Counties To Be Covered.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 4—Ohio's defense against possible enemy raids will get its broadest test to date in the blackout of 30 northern Ohio counties tonight.

Some 150,000 defense workers were ready to dim lights that intended to conceal industry with a population of some 6,000,000 behind a curtain of darkness.

The test is set for about 8:30 o'clock, central war time.

Most industrial plants will be exempted from participation, but Cuyahoga county factories will blackout.

Defense officials will use the test as a proving ground for plans to be executed in district and statewide trials later.

First warning will be given key members of local defense corps at 8:05 p. m. A two-minute blast on air raid sirens or whistles 20 minutes later will warn the public to turn off lights.

Traffic must halt at 8:40 with a series of short blasts which signals that planes are overhead. A steady blast 10 minutes later will denote that planes have left but might return, therefore lights must remain out and traffic must move slowly.

Relighting of street lights at 8:55 will mark the all-clear.

Counties blacking out are: Ashtabula, Athens, Belmont, Columbiana, Cuyahoga, Defiance, Erie, Gallia, Geauga, Mahoning, Meigs, Henry, Huron, Jackson, Jefferson, Lake, Lawrence, Lorain, Lucas, Medina, Monroe, Ottawa, Portage, Sandusky, Scioto, Seneca, Summit, Trumbull, Washington and Wood.

Stag Party Honors Marion Star Employe

Gerald Chappell of 379 East Fairground street, an employe in the pressroom of The Star who will go to Fort Hayes on Friday for his physical examination, was given a stag party last night at the home of the pressroom foreman, Robert Rousn of 640 North Prospect street.

About a dozen men from the various departments of the newspaper spent the evening playing cards. Lunch was served by the host.

pushed on the floor of both houses than it was in the committee.

Congressional Absenteeism

Absenteeism of Democrats from the house floor is causing Speaker Rayburn trouble. His slim majority of eight votes is daily endangered by the number of men in the party who are ducking roll calls, or for other reasons are not particularly interested in being present.

The Republicans, on the other hand, have a crusading spirit, especially the new ones. This is true in the senate also, where they are pressing Leader McNary for more aggressive anti-Roosevelt action.

Rayburn has gone to the extent of refusing to let committees hold meetings in the afternoon while the house is in session, because he can not spare the votes from the floor.

Caledonia Girls To Present Three Plays

Three one-act comedies, "Hillbilly Sue," "Uncle Bob's Bride" and "Girls of the U. S. A." will be presented by the G. A. A. of the Caledonia High school Friday night, at 8 in the school auditorium. Each group is responsible for its own stage setting.

Taking part in "Hillbilly Sue" are Miriam Alexander, Mary Beth Coldern, Margaret Reynolds, Rosalie Lyons, Virginia Thompson, Helen Carter, Vera Kroft and Pat Pommert. The cast of "Uncle Bob's Bride" includes Willajean Foos, Virginia Williams, Ruth Racey, Glenna Cain, Doris Sullivan, Frances Furniss, Florence Jones and Mary Lou Longacre, and for "Girls of the U. S. A." the parts are taken by Evelyn Esterline, Jean Hodge, Carol Frost, Ruth Racey, Catherine Ross, Doris Carter and Eleanor Pommert. Mrs. Clouse, director of the G. A. A. is directing the plays.

TEACHERS TAKE PART IN OHIO SENATE HEARING

Two from Marion Urge Favorable Action on Cramer Bill.

George Wilson of the Harding High school staff and president of the American Federation of Teachers, Local No. 715, and LeMoyne Greene of Edison Junior High school and secretary of the local, spoke before the senate educational committee of the state legislature in favor of the Cramer bill,—Senate Bill No. 115, when the bill was brought up for a second committee hearing Tuesday at Columbus. The bill was recommended by the committee by a vote of seven to one.

The bill proposes the increase of the flat grant for elementary pupils from 17 cents per pupil-day to 19½ cents per pupil-day, an increase of $4.05 for a year of 180 days; a corresponding increase in the guarantee from 23 cents per pupil-day, and the calculation of the distribution on the basis of enrollment rather than average daily attendance. Classification of pupils in six-year high schools and junior high schools at the rate now paid grades 9 to 12 that is a 25½ cent flat rate and 37½ cent guarantee, proposed by the sponsors of the bill, was not included in the committee's recommendation.

In Revolutionary times American Marines were called "gentlemen sailors."

"USE IT UP...WEAR IT OUT...MAKE IT DO...OR DO WITHOUT"

This old proverb has come to life again, as a yardstick for wartime conservation. It's just another way of saying: "Don't throw anything away . . . there's still some use in it!"

This is especially true of clothes. Don't think they're not fit to wear because you're tired of them!

The top of an old dress may become a blouse . . . with an inexpensive new skirt to transform it. The clothes you have, supplemented with fresh accessories, will do yeoman service for a long time.

15 School Janitors End Strike at East Liverpool

By The Associated Press

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., March 4—Fifteen grade school janitors ended a two-day strike today under an agreement calling for the school board to notify them by May 1 whether summer work would be available.

The men, whose walkout Tuesday left buildings unheated and produced unexpected vacations for 3,000 children, demanded 12-month contracts instead of the present nine-month agreements. Raymond Buzzard, school board president, said a two-mill levy would be submitted to voters, probably next month, to provide another $18,000 for school operating expenses. This would meet the janitors' demands and provide pay increases for about 175 teachers, Buzzard said.

The janitors did not demand an increase in their base pay, which Buzzard said averages about $125 a month.

Move To Salvage Unharvested Marion Co. Crops Under Way

Estimated That 10 Per Cent of 1942 Corn and 5 Per Cent of Soybeans Still in Field; Meeting Called.

Early salvaging of an estimated 5,000 acres of corn and 1,000 acres of soybeans still unharvested from last year's Marion county crops will be the subject of a meeting of numerous farm groups Monday night in the American Legion Dugout. The meeting has been called for 8:00 Eastern war time by the county farm mobilization committee.

Marion county farmers, in better position on this matter than many others, have an estimated 10 per cent of the 1942 corn crop and five per cent of the soybean crop still out in the fields. Much of it has been leveled to the ground and harvesting operations will require considerable manpower at a time when farmers are busy getting an early start on their 1943 programs.

May Use School Boys

As a result, Marion county, for the first time in its recent history, may see its rural high school boys called out of classrooms to help with the job. Whether this is the solution of the problem will be up for discussion Monday night.

AAA committees in each township are now busy contacting all farms to get accurate figures on the acreage of corn and beans still in the fields and to learn how much help the farmers feel they will need for the harvesting job.

They will report at the Monday night meeting, providing an accurate picture of the job to be done and the estimated manpower to do it. The problem then will be taken over by the county's agricultural labor committee, handled through the county farm extension agent's office with the cooperation of several groups. The committee is expected to consider high school boy labor and any other means of helping to get the job done quickly.

Time Element Vital

Time is at a premium because, whereas wintry weather has had a tendency to preserve the crops in the field, spring thaws will bring deterioration and for a time complicate the job by making the fields too soft to work in, farm officials said.

Manpower will be needed in [illegible] provided to salvage [illegible] of the 1942 crop.

CONGRESS

ture department estimates that the 1943 supply would permit per capita consumption of about 2½ pounds per week.

McNutt corrected his Monday press conference statement that no knew of no restriction on local boards regarding future draftees to say instead that the only men with children now being inducted are those whose dependency was acquired after Dec. 8, 1941 or at a time when draft selection was imminent.

Increased action on the manpower draft issue came after the senate military committee was informed—in a summary of its own inquiries—that government agencies lack authority to take "really effective action" in solving labor problems.

Japs Lose More Ships Than Men Lost by Allies

By TOM YARBROUGH
AP War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, March 3—(Delayed)—Air officers at fifth air force headquarters looked up smiling tonight from a stack of reports on the smashing allied victory over a Japanese convoy in the Bismarck sea and said: "The folks back home aren't going to believe this when they see it in the papers."

"It's incredible," he continued. "We destroyed more ships than the total number of men we lost."

I listened to the radio conversation among the members of a Flying Fortress formation over the country for a half hour this afternoon.

Their voices came through a loudspeaker in a tent beside a muddy road and their comrades at headquarters were crowded around the loudspeaker as if they were gathered around a radio at world series time.

Presently the loudspeaker croaked: "Direct hit on that one—blew it right up—if we're not intercepted we'll make individual runs—lets shoot the blank—zeros at nine o'clock—zeros at nine o'clock (indicating the position of attacking enemy planes)—zeros at three o'clock—zeros at three o'clock.

"Well, that's another one down—two to go—it's just like you see in the movies — zeros at ten o'clock—let's get out of here—there's too many blank many—that was a rough deal for the Japs."

PACIFIC

more scattered and dispersed; and finally his remnants, isolated and bewildered, were gradually annihilated by our successive air formations as we sent them into combat.

U. S. Losses Slight

"Our losses were slight, one bomber and three fighters shot down and a number of others damaged but returned to base.

"Our decisive success cannot fail to have the most important results on the enemy's strategic and tactical plans. His campaign for the time being at least is completely dislocated."

While formation after formation hammered the convoy yesterday, attack units kept up a constant assault on the enemy airdrome at Lae, divebombing and strafing the field and engaging in combat with any Japanese fliers able to leave the ground. Seven of these Japanese planes were shot out of the light, bringing to 62 the number of enemy aircraft destroyed or probably destroyed in the battle against the convoy and connected actions.

A Flying Fortress on reconnaissance over Huon gulf off Lae last evening reported dramatically: "Three cargo ships and two destroyers, one large and one small, sighted burning from 6,000 feet—remaining as last vestige of 22-ship convoy. All cargo ships on fire, smoke rising 3,000 feet. Large destroyer moving slowly; heavy slick pouring from stern. Small destroyer low in water; hole seen in waterline, starboard side."

Fortress Reports

A message from another Fortress late yesterday said:

"Many lifeboats and Japanese in water. Many dead and much wreckage. Sighted cargo ship going under."

A spokesman, discussing the battle, said "our air losses were so small because of the planes, the pilots and the breaks—plus thorough preparation."

The convoy started out behind a thick weather front rolling southward upon New Guinea, but it was sighted by air scouts and allied squadrons were prepared.

American and Australian pilots took off in some of the most fearful storms seen in the New Guinea area since the war began, crossed the treacherous mountains of New Guinea to find the convoy and return safely. The weather lifted somewhat Wednesday, permitting the final, concentrated assault in the Bismarck sea.

The only furniture needed will be comfortable chairs, small tables for writing, and grass rugs.

The only request in connection with contributions is that the chairs be clean and comfortable and that both the chairs and tables be sturdy.

"We want to make it a clean, comfortable place for the service men and women who have to stay in Marion for a few minutes or a few hours between trains," Mrs. Willey said.

Because the canteen has no funds to spend for transportation the women are asking that if it is at all possible, the contributions be taken to the canteen. If contributors are not able to get the furniture to the canteen they should call Mrs. Willey at 6079.

Red Cross Donation Made by Navy Club

The ways and means committee of the Navy club auxiliary announced plans for a card party March 13 in the club rooms at a meeting Monday night of the auxiliary.

A contribution of $10 was made to the Red Cross. Mrs. Helen Sloat was appointed to fill a vacancy on the ways and means committee and Mrs. Helen Moore was appointed musician. A gift package was won by Mrs. Mae Griffith. The penny parade, amounting to $1.05, was donated to the canteen.

COUPON DATE ADVANCED

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, March 4 — The regional office of price administration advanced the valid date of No. 5 fuel oil coupon from March 13 to March 8 in zone B which includes northern Ohio. Continued cold weather was given as the reason.

FIGHTER. Member of a heroic anti-tank company in the British Eighth army in North Africa, Sgt. John Hine personally accounted for several enemy tanks and an 88 mm. gun during a night attack. The sergeant's home is in London.

EARLIER CLOSING OF BUCYRUS CAFES ASKED

Council and Mayor Get Petition from Ministers.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, March 4—For the second time in a few weeks, the Bucyrus Ministerial association presented legislation addressed to the mayor and also to city council requesting that steps be taken to set an earlier closing hour for taverns and places where intoxicants are sold.

Appearing before council Tuesday, three members of the association, spoke in behalf of their petition, emphasizing the need because of the absenteeism which is hampering war production and also as a safeguard for soldiers at Camp Milliard.

Council also was asked to consider a curfew for minors in line with similar action being taken in other cities. Both requests were referred to special committees named by Chairman A. J. Flickinger. Councilmen concurred in the need for a curfew but were of varied opinions as to the hour to be set and the age limit of minors to be effected.

A newly established bus line operated by a local taxi company under a taxi license was discussed and referred to the traffic commission and the city solicitor with the view of working out a suitable bus franchise.

Bucyrus went on war time officially when legislation was adopted by council. Eastern Standard War time was unofficially adopted as the official city time at the last meeting of council, two weeks ago.

COURT NEWS

Bus Company Sued

Damages in the amount of $20,000 are asked by Mina Margaret Williams, aged 18 months, through her father, Isaac V. Williams, for permanent injuries which the petition claims resulted when her mother fell while alighting from a bus while pregnant, in a suit filed in common pleas court against the Marion Rapid Transit Co., Inc.

The petition states that the plaintiff, as the result of her mother's accident, has spasms, cannot walk or talk, is highly nervous and is in a crippled condition. The firm of Mouser & Mouser represents the plaintiff.

A suit seeking $25,000 for injuries received in the accident was filed Oct. 5 last year by Mrs. Williams.

Suit Dismissed

The suit of Harold Rengert against the Industrial Commission of Ohio has been dismissed in common pleas court. The suit involved injuries alleged to have been suffered by the plaintiff while employed at the Huber Mfg. Co.

Cross Petition Filed

In the suit of Pat Dwyer and Lucile Jacobs against the Universal Housing, Inc., Iva G. Clark and others, an answer and cross petition has been filed in common pleas court by the defendants through their attorneys, Guthery & Guthery. The petition filed by Iva G. Clark, asks that suit be dismissed and that if plaintiffs have any stock interest in said corporation they be required to pay the amounts loaned by her to the plaintiffs to pay for stock subscriptions; failing that, the defendant asks that stock interest be ordered sold and she be paid out of the proceeds.

Divorce Actions

Petitions filed—Mary F. McGinnis Lapham against Loren M. Lapham, grounds neglect; seeks divorce and restoration to former name of Mary F. McGinnis; Walter D. Moore, attorney for plaintiff; Frances Ward against Clyde Ward, grounds neglect; seeks custody of two minor children; Homer E. Johnson attorney for the plaintiff.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, O., March 4—Funeral for Lieut. Col. Leo V. Ault, 52, of Mt. Gilead who died suddenly of a heart attack at his home in Wayne, Mich., Monday will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Trinity Methodist church in Mt. Gilead.

Rev. E. G. Corwin of Mansfield and Rev. L. E. Rush of Mt. Gilead will be in charge of the service and burial will be made in Riverciff cemetery here. The body, accompanied by a military escort arrived in Mt. Gilead Wednesday and was taken to the Craven funeral home where it will remain until Wednesday noon.

MOTHERS CLASS MEETS

The Mothers class of Epworth Methodist church met Monday night with Mrs. W. J. Markwith of East Center street. Mrs. Maxine Hall conducted devotions and Mrs. George Wilson was in charge of the program. Contest awards went to Mrs. Earl Hale. Mrs. Evelyn Williams and Mrs. F. L. Thomas. Appointments for refreshments were in keeping with St. Patrick's day. Serving on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Ben Wiant, Mrs. Harold Meister, Mrs. Robert Gamble, Mrs. Forest Cass, Mrs. Paul Pace, Mrs. R. R. Quackenbush, Mrs. Warren Wise, Mrs. Harold Stayner and Mrs. Earl Stansberry.

Son of Former Kenton Couple Has Charmed Life

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 4—Lt. (j.g.) Charles M. Melhorn, whose parents, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Kent C. Melhorn of Brooklyn, N. Y., are former Kenton residents, stopped off here briefly this week enroute to Brooklyn on a 30-day leave.

He left one ship shortly before it was sunk, was transferred from another for hospital treatment only a few days before it was sent to the bottom. His narrowest escape came later when he struggled in the waters of the Pacific for several hours, menaced by sharks and by the cross fire of Jap ships, before being rescued after his boat was sunk.

British Navy Using New Type of Warship

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 4 — Britain has put into action a new type warship, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, revealed in the house of commons yesterday.

He described it as faster and heavier than the corvette type.

"We propose to call it the frigate," he added.

(Corvettes generally displace between 500 and 600 tons.)

Kirkpatrick Couple Given Farewell Party

KIRKPATRICK—Neighbors and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Spence Friday night for a farewell party. Mr. and Mrs. Spence moved Monday to a farm east of Bucyrus. They were presented a lamp from the Sunday school class.

HOW TO SHOP FOR RATIONED FOODS AT A&P SUPERS

Point rationing won't change your method of shopping at A&P Super Markets. You'll shop as you always have, serving yourself from shelves and bins. And when you finish your sopping, you'll do as you have always done, simply go to one of the check-out counters to pay your bill and have your order bagged. Our check-out cashiers will take your payment of ration points for the point rationed foods you buy . . . just as they now accept cash payments for the foods you purchase.

BIG VARIETIES OF RATIONED PROCESSED FOODS ARE ON HAND, awaiting your selection at your A&P Super Markets. The foods in the list below are only part of our wide varieties. And note, please, as always A&P Super Market values are big to help you save on your food bills.

Shopping for foods rationed with the blue stamps of war ration book No. 2 is not difficult at your A&P Super Market. Each rationed food on display, or stocked on shelves and in bins, is identified with a special ration-point tag next to the price tag.

Budget Points Before You Buy

Before you make selection of point-rationed foods, decide how much you can spend for each of the various kinds of rationed items. It's wise to budget so much for baby foods, so much for canned vegetables and fruits, an amount for vegetable and fruit juices.

Shop Early in the Week and Early in the Day!

Speed your wartime food buying by shopping early in the week and early in the day! . . . You'll save time and be able to shop more easily.

Mackenzie Sees Moslems Willing To Compromise

DeWitt Mackenzie, war analyst of The Star, concludes his interesting, important series on India with tomorrow's article in which he will sum up the crisis. On Friday, he will resume his regular daily column "The War Today," analyzing current war developments. During the last five months, Mr. Mackenzie has been in many of the war zones and, naturally, much of the information that appears in his daily analyses

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

When I came away from my conferences with Mahomed Ali Jinnah, brilliant leader of India's great Moslem minority, it was with the hunch—I can't describe it as anything more concrete—that he would be willing to compromise on his program for Pakistan (a wholly independent Moslem state) and thereby perhaps pave the way for a general settlement of the whole Indian political crisis.

I found much encouragement among other observers who know Jinnah well, though they in turn lacked any definite assurance from the great man. Pakistan is more than a Moslem ideal—it's a powerful weapon and the Moslem leader is too farsighted to abandon it before it has served its purpose of forcing large concessions.

I hasten to add that this thought is no reflection on Mr. Jinnah's undoubted sincerity. He believes in Pakistan.

One of the most surprising and hopeful signs which Mr. Jinnah let fall was his offer to join with the Hindus "in a government for the duration of the war, for the purpose of supporting the war effort." There was a proviso that the British government and the Hindus must agree to the principle of Pakistan.

An Important Point

Now that's mighty important. I've already reported that I found a widespread belief in India that the solution of the political crisis would be for the British government arbitrarily to establish a provisional national government and invite all the warring factions to participate in the interests of the allied war effort. Those advocating this included such great figures as Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee, working president of the orthodox Hindu organization known as the Hindu Mahasabha, and Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, the famous Hindu liberal.

It is felt that war service would provide the medium to draw the parties together. In that connection it is highly interesting to note that Dr. Mookerjee and Mr. Sapru, both of whom advocate this sensational move, are heads of political organizations which are the bitterest of opponents.

Another point which Jinnah made to me was that the provisional government should be set up immediately, in view of the importance of India to the allied cause.

That agrees exactly with my own observations. It is dangerous to the general war effort to allow this destructive political crisis to drag on in one of the most vital of the allied bases. But let me give you Jinnah's complete statement regarding to this proposal:

"Reverting to your question regarding a compromise, if the British government and the Hindus will agree to the principle of partition (Pakistan) then the Moslems will participate in a government for the duration of the war for the purpose of supporting the war effort.

"However, this must be contingent on the British government giving a categorical promise that partition will be carried out after the war if a majority of Moslems vote for it in a plebiscite in the various Moslem provinces. In other words, there must be no monkey business.

"If a plebiscite is taken and a majority of Moslems don't vote for partition, why then I shall salute all hands and call off Pakistan altogether. (And the colorful Jinnah, who years ago was a Shakespearean actor, saluted.)

Moslems Want Promise

"If the British government will give this promise, and the Hindus refuse to participate in this war government, then the Moslems will cooperate with any other elements in the country in our own interests and those of the allies and defend India against any aggressor.

"I believe that India should make this contribution, and I think that it should be done immediately. It is unwise to leave the political situation in its present state in view of the importance of India to the cause of the United Nations."

Well now, one can see with half an eye that if the Indian factions could work together for the duration of the war, there would be real hopes of their being able to continue that cooperation after the war.

Sapru gave me some pertinent observations on Jinnah's position. Said this great Hindu liberal:

"To me it doesn't matter whether the prime minister of a national government is Moslem or Hindu. I believe this question is largely political, not religious.

"I believe the future of India is going to be a federation of Moslems and Hindus. We must have national welfare at the center. There must be a federal government which will control such things as defense, posts, telegraph communications and foreign relations.

"If necessary I would agree with the Moslems on provincial sovereignty, provided they agree to certain central restrictions.

"I'm trying to bring about a meeting between Moslems and Hindus. I do not accept Jinnah's claim that there are two nations living in this country."

Sir Tej as usual has put his finger on a vital spot. Impartial observers in India maintain that to establish Pakistan and set up wholly separate Hindu and Moslem states would be to preclude Indian unity.

The consensus among such observers is that the Moslem minority could be protected by constitutional safeguards. I'm not sure that Mr. Jinnah himself doesn't believe that in his own heart, too. When I asked him how he would take care of the great Sikh minority in the Punjab if the Moslems took over that province under Pakistan, he replied that their interests could be safeguarded by constitutional guarantees. Well, if a Moslem government can do that for the Sikhs, it's hard to see why a federal government couldn't do it for the Moslems.

OHIOANS USE MORE MILK, DAIRY EXPERTS REPORT

Marion in Area Where Consumption Increases.

COLUMBUS, O., March 4—Ohioans are including more milk in their wartime diet, dairy experts reported yesterday.

Class one milk consumption in 19 major markets totaled 82,588,000 pounds in January, a gain of 24 per cent over January, 1942, the U. S. department of agriculture's bureau of economics and the state department of agriculture announced.

An additional 24,765,000 pounds of milk went to processors last January compared to 35,706,000 used for such purposes the previous January. The total amounts supplied the 19 areas in January 1942 and 1943 respectively was 102,269,000 and 107,353,000.

Part of the increased consumption was attributed to an influx of workers in the markets including Akron, Canton, Chillicothe, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, East Liverpool, Findlay, Lima, Mansfield, Marietta, Marion, Portsmouth, Sandusky, Springfield, Toledo, Youngstown and Zanesville.

Springfield Girl Weds by Trans-Pacific Cable

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 4—Mary Jane Burns of Springfield and Lieut. Sam Macnotka, who is with the Army air forces in Australia, were married yesterday by trans-Pacific cable. The ceremony became official when their cables, asserting matrimonial vows, and an affidavit were filed in probate court. They plan a post-war church wedding the bride said.

Week's Shopping List For Use Under Ration System

BAKED FISH: Takes no coupons from your book.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Associated Press Food Editor

You use point-rationed foods to supplement your other eating. They must be chosen wisely to get the most possible food value for points expended. A family of four can afford to spend about 48 points a week during the first ration period of March, 1943.

I have planned a week's shopping list for a family of four which uses up 44 points. Each of the point-rationed items chosen fits in important balancing positions in your meals. The use of canned tomatoes and canned applesauce once each during the week is calculated to save you precious time for other household duties or for war work. Here's the list:

Rationed Goods	Points
No. 2 can tomatoes	16
1 lb. dried lentils	8
½ lb. prunes	10
No. 2 can applesauce	10

Vegetables—8 lbs. potatoes, 3 bunches carrots, 2-3 head lettuce, other salad greens, 3 lbs. onions, 3 lbs. spinach or kale, 3 lbs. cabbage, 1¼ lbs. snap beans, 2 lbs. tomatoes, 2 lbs. peas, soup greens, 1 green pepper, ½ lb. mushrooms.

Fruit—2 doz. oranges, 4 grapefruit, 3 lbs. apples.

Meat, Fish, Poultry—3 lb. shoulder lamb, 1 lb. beef liver, 3 frankfurters, 3 lb. fowl, 3 lbs. bluefish.

Other Foods—21 quarts milk, 2 doz. eggs, 1½ lbs. cheese, 2 lbs. butter or other spread, 6 loaves whole grain or enriched bread, 1 pkg. whole grain cereal.

You will see that these lists are based upon the classes of foods everyone needs daily: milk, citrus fruit, tomatoes, or other food rich in vitamin C; green and yellow vegetables; other vegetables and fruits; meat or alternate main-dish foods; eggs; fats. Though I have planned that applesauce will be used for dessert one night, grapefruit another, and apples with cheese another I have not paid much further attention to sweets. They are pleasant, but not essential.

Taking the lists as they come, here are a few suggestions for their use. The can of tomatoes can be used for making Spanish rice—a good meatless main dish. Everybody should save a portion of his points for the purchase of some of the dried vegetables, as they make such good protein substitutes in times of meat shortage, therefore I suggest one meal of lentil soup with frankfurters floating in it, a green salad and a sweet desert. The prunes will serve for one breakfast. The can of applesauce makes an easy dessert and provides one other fruit.

You will have enough cooked vegetables left over from three dinners to make a vegetable salad for one lunch. One pound of tomatoes you can have baked with chicken fricassee and the other you can use to make soup for one lunch. It will be necessary, under present food shortages, for us all to eat more potatoes than perhaps we've been accustomed to. Cook them in their jackets to preserve food value and try to persuade your families to eat the skins so they'll get all the vitamins. Use as little water as possible in cooking vegetables and save every bit of it so that at least once a week you may serve it, well seasoned, as a breakfast juice.

The fruit list, I think, speaks for itself. The point value of fruit juices is too high for most of us, so we must make plenty of use of the available fresh citrus fruits. Use cut oranges two or three times a week and orange juice once.

The shoulder of lamb will serve for two meals and from the bone and scraps you can make a soup, with greens, to serve at one lunch. Baked fish, such as the one illustrated, makes a good hearty base for Friday's dinner.

The keynote is to waste nothing and to cook all foods so as to get the most food value from them.

AIMS BLOW AT BLACK MARKET

Brown To Order Uniform Ceiling on Pork and Beef Prices.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4 — Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown announced yesterday uniform, countrywide dollar and cents ceiling prices on pork and beef would be established shortly in an effort to break up black markets in meat.

Brown's disclosure was made to a senate agriculture subcommittee which has heard packers complain many independents were being forced out of business by a squeeze between ceiling prices on meat and rising, uncontrolled prices of live hogs and cattle.

Black markets have been operating, Brown said, because under present ceilings, meat retailers are permitted to charge the highest prices they received for various meats last March, thus varying the ceiling price from store to store and making it possible for those charging higher prices to pay a premium for black market pork and beef.

"The new ceiling prices on pork should be out in a matter of days," Brown testified, "with those on beef to follow shortly."

The new ceilings, fixed for each community, will be accompanied by an acceleration of a drive to convince the public that purchase of "uninspected black market meat is dangerous," Brown said.

If the projected procedure fails to make it possible for the packer to operate at a normal margin of profit," he asserted, "I'm going to advocate ceilings on live hogs as a starter."

Responding to a question from Senator Aiken (R-Vt) he said the communitywide ceiling prices would be based on production, processing and distribution costs plus a normal profit to the retailer and packer.

"I'm satisfied if we materially breach the price structure, we can't hold the line on wages," Brown asserted. "What I'm fighting for is a stabilization of both. Wages have been substantially controlled."

Brown acknowledged that packers are "correct when they insist on the same margin under an uncontrolled as under a controlled market," adding: "If it can't be done any other way, we will have to consider high consumer prices and fixed prices of cattle and hogs on the hoof."

Brown said black markets had brought serious sickness in Detroit and a death in Chicago and added 500 criminal suits had been instituted in efforts to wipe out such sales over the country while 800 other cases were under consideration.

11 Colleges Approved for Cadet Training

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—The war department today listed 11 Ohio colleges as approved for participation in the aviation cadet crew training program.

They are: Akron university, Penn college, Hiram college, Marietta college, Mount Union college, University of Toledo, Western Reserve university, Wittenberg college, University of Cincinnati, Xavier university and Capital university. Participation in the program is subject to final negotiations of contracts.

The department said all candidates for aviation cadet crew training would be required to complete five months of special college work under a new program effective Friday. College graduates or men with adequate college credits were exempted from the five-month course.

5,389 STATE DRAFT DELINQUENTS LISTED

Most Due to Carelessness, Headquarters Says.

COLUMBUS, O., March 4—Latest available records show that Ohio has 5,389 draft delinquents, selective service headquarters reported yesterday.

One spokesman said most delinquent registrants could bring their records to date only by reporting to their local board.

"Much of the delinquency can be traced to carelessness," he said, adding that relatives or friends might induce the delinquents to appear before their boards.

Of the total in Ohio, 2,629 registrants are listed as delinquent because they failed to return occupational questionnaires. The number listed for other reasons included:

Failure to appear for physical examination, 736; failure to return original questionnaire, 1,405; failure to report for induction, 208; failure to report for assignment to conscientious objector camps, 6; failure to register, 23; failure to submit personal histories as aliens, 5, and other reasons, 378.

Union County Blackout Termed Successful

Special to The Star.

MARYSVILLE, March 4 — Union county's blackout Tuesday night, along with Delaware, was pronounced successful. "I don't know how it could have been any better," said Major Charles S. Miller of Columbus, who was assigned by the war department to inspect the results.

Major Miller was especially pleased with the dispatch in which calls were handled. Operators in the control center dispatched the second call in seven and one-half minutes, third in three minutes and fourth and fifth in two minutes each.

All factories in the county, business places and the Ohio reformatory for women were blacked out. Due to the heavy snow storm, the alarm system in the city was not adequate and air raid wardens found it necessary to inform many residents of the alarm which came more than one-half hour before it was expected. The blackout lasted 29 minutes.

FOUR LIQUOR STORE WORKERS SUSPENDED

Acting Director Announces Investigation Ended.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 4—Acting State Liquor Director Don A. Fisher said today an investigation of irregularities in Ohio liquor stores had ended with suspension of four employes, but promised prompt action in the event of any further reports of improper sales of activities.

"We have checked all rumors and reports and will investigate any others we receive in the future," said Fisher, who previously ordered district supervisors throughout the state to watch for irregularities or indications of favoritism being shown certain customers.

Fisher yesterday suspended for 30 days two store managers and two clerks and transferred 18 Cleveland managers after receiving reports of violations in eight Cleveland district stores and the Columbus wholesale outlet. He also set rigid store hours, made effective throughout the state a system of rationing whereby it is hoped that some would be available each day at every store and said additional personnel shifts would be made in Cleveland shortly.

The acting director ordered all stores to operate from 12 noon to 8 p. m. (Eastern Standard time) Monday through Friday and from noon to 6 p. m. Saturdays and days preceding holidays, whether the stores have any liquor on hand or not.

Managers were ordered to divide weekly domestic whisky allotments into seven equal parts and to sell one seventh each day except Saturday when two-sevenths would be sold. Fisher believes this would eliminate confusion resulting from irregular hours.

To eliminate the cause of [illegible] discovered at Cleveland stores, employes were prohibited from filling out purchase slips for customers except those who are able to write. The latter must make an "X" on purchase orders.

Australia, through reciprocal aid, has furnished American forces with more than 56 million pounds of fresh meats, 20 million pounds of potatoes, 25 million pounds of fruit, and almost 5½ million quarts of milk.

Ultra-Violet Used To "Tenderize" Beef

By The United Press

PULLMAN, Wash.—A method of "tenderizing" cheaper grades of beef by bathing it in ultra-violet light was described at a Washington State college agricultural experiment station conference recently by Dr. Jennie McIntosh, assistant home economist.

Dr. McIntosh said experimental tests showed that aging meat at a temperature of 50 degrees with ultra-violet light to prevent spoilage of the surface makes it more tender than at 34 degrees.

Barter Becomes Chief Means of Trade in Much Bombed Island of Malta

Hugh Burns has been Associated Press correspondent on Malta since the start of the war and went through more than 2,000 bombings. Here he gives an intimate glimpse of island life and tells some of the improvisations by which the islanders contrived to make up for war-caused shortages.)

By H. E. P. BURNS

VALLETTA, MALTA — (Delayed)—Bombed and, until recently, beleaguered Malta is today very much like a child out for a walk by itself for the first time. That is to say, commercially.

Any number of small industries have sprung up, fostered by the genius of the islanders for makeshift.

During the greater part of 1942, only 13 ships with supplies and munitions succeeded in reaching the island; normally the number would be hundreds. Since the axis forces in Africa were driven westward, numerous small convoys have reached us and we are again well stocked with flour and preserved meat.

Cosmetics and drug store goods generally were, aside from staples, one of the most considerable imports before the war. The bombings and the need of valuable cargo space for other things besides cosmetics did not defeat the Maltese, however.

Make Own Cosmetics

Cosmetics are now manufactured here. So is every kind of toilet article from combs cut from the metal parts of burnt-out German planes, to the stick-it-down fixative that men put on their hair.

An almost absolute lack of small change is met in many shops by the issue of cardboard discs, marked I.O.U. value for so much. Barter is a recognized form of private trade. If you give me potatoes for Uncle Harry's old suit, I shall be able to get some extra butter from Mrs. Jones.

For the humble cup or glass, much solid worth in bartered goods can be extracted, while cigarets themselves are more valuable than actual coin of the realm.

The Malta scene presents no more envied individuals than the American and Canadian fliers who sport not merely the much prized fur-lined leather jackets but the most delightful boots, zipped and befurred.

There is no clothes rationing here, perhaps because there is practically nothing to ration.

A feature of wartime life in Malta today is the "no-eats" form of entertaining. One's guests bring their own dinner or tea. Some hosts seize on your packets and reissue them in slightly improved form. In some cases you don't see them again, in still worse cases you get nothing at all save a lot of heterogeneous drinks which fly immediately to the head and knees and remain there for a long time afterwards.

Tobacco Substitutes

Every kind of liquor, all with world-famous and most reputable brand names on the bottle, is manufactured and consumed in large quantities at high prices; including the notorious red biddy or methylated spirits, according to rumor.

The actual Malta, or more properly gozo, wine is good if rough, and rather scarce.

Even pipe tobacco has its substitutes—in some cases it is carefully dried vine leaves, soaked in wine and dried again to give a clean and rather refreshing smoke.

And officers of his majesty's forces have been known to smoke the day's issue of dehydrated cabbage.

DOCTOR TURNS CUPID TO MEND AILING HEART

Physician Arranges Marriage Despite Illness and Army.

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH — A physician turned cupid here recently to mend the ailing heart of one of his patients.

The physician preferred anonymity, but here's what he did:

Miss Elizabeth Kirik, 21, was stricken with a heart ailment while preparing to leave for Camp Gruber, Okla., to marry Pvt. John Santis. She started to brood because she had to miss the wedding, so the physician swung into his role as cupid.

By telegraph, he obtained a furlough for Santis and the Red Cross got the soldier an additional leave. But the time was short, so the physician issued a statement explaining that Miss Kirik was ill and unable to appear in court.

Judge H. Walton Mitchell accepted the physician's word and waived the usual three-day waiting period. A priest married the couple at the bride's bedside. The soldier returned to camp the following day, a much happier man, thanks to the physician.

Request More Gas Because of Hills

By The United Press

SEATTLE—Hills that eat up gas with frightening regularity has caused Seattle war industry heads, along with the Seattle transit system, to ask the Office of Price Administration for additional gas rations in the Seattle area.

Claire Bowman of the Seattle-Tocamo shipyards estimates workers there average only 11.98 miles per gallon and that many will be unable to get to work when their coupons are exhausted.

Mileage rationing regulations are based on 15 miles per gallon.

Miss Jean Russell became president of the Victoria Christensen Guild of Trinity Baptist church in an election Monday night in the home of Mrs. Carl Phillians on Olney avenue.

Others elected were Mrs. George Wingett, vice president; Mrs. George Barnhart, secretary; Mrs. Gerald Roberts, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Myers, social director; Mrs. Walter Haldeman, program; Mrs. Frank Kochensperger, service; Mrs. Ed Price, educational; Mrs. Phillians, devotional; Mrs. Merle Kirk, Terradel scholarship chairman; Mrs. Raymond Fout, card chairman; Miss Virginia Crabtree, chorister; Mrs. Lewis Wills, pianist; Miss Mary Catherine Byers, press correspondent; Mrs. R. A. Maxim, counsellor.

Mrs. Milan Gorby led devotions on the theme "Beneath the Cross of Jesus," and Mrs. William Sibberson, guest speaker, reviewed the book "The Young Man of Caracas" by Ybarra. Mrs. Kirk and Mrs. Hobart Frazier were assistant hostesses. Guests included, besides Mrs. Sibberson, Mrs. J. B. Holloway, Mrs. Paul Saltz and Mrs. Mary Lunsford. Mrs. Gerald Roberts will be hostess for the next meeting in her home at 638 Girard avenue with Mrs. Maxim and Mrs. Kenneth Staats assisting. The Marion Association of Guilds will hold a rally in Trinity church March 30. Mrs. Kochensperger was named chairman in charge of refreshments.

FENCER. Pretty Muriel Calkins, University of California at Los Angeles co-ed, is Pacific Coast women's open foils champion. Here she practices for a meet.

Marion Soldier Gets Commission at Aberdeen

Lt. John C. Turner, who received his commission at the graduation exercises at officers' training school Aberdeen, Md., Saturday, and Mrs. Turner have arrived for a short visit with Lt. Turner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Turner of 206 South High street. They will leave Sunday for New York City where Lt. Turner has been assigned to duty. Lt. Turner, a graduate of Harding High school, was a senior this year at Ohio State when he was inducted into service with the armed forces in August 1941. Prior to entering officers' training he was stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco, San Francisco, Calif. Mrs. Turner became his bride last July, was Miss Joann Stephens of Delaware.

AFRICA

The allied push into Sidi Bouzid placed vanguards within a few miles of Faid Pass, through which Marshal Rommel's tanks-supported infantry stormed Sunday, Feb. 14, in an offensive that drove at some points as far westward as the Algerian frontier before British and American divisions turned the tide west and northwest of Kasserine pass.

Retake Lost Territory

Reports of the movement of allied advance forces indicated they already had re-occupied half of the cactus-studded terrain seized by the Germans in the smash which began Feb. 14 and there were no signs Rommel planned to make a stand anywhere short of Faid pass.

A renewal of fighting was reported meanwhile on the northern front, where the French said their troops had repulsed attempted infiltrations by Col. Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim's forces in the area above Medjez-El-Bab, 35 miles southwest of Tunis.

The French also announced a success on the extreme southern end of the front, declaring their camel corps patrols had reached Netta, approximately 60 miles southwest of Gafsa on the northern rim of the Chott Djerid salt marshes.

(A Reuters dispatch reported forward patrols of the British Eighth Army facing Rommel's forces across the Mareth line had made a junction with American reconnaissance forces pushing down below Gafsa).

There were indications the Tunisian campaign was about to enter a new phase stressing aerial activity.

Weather Improves

Improving weather has turned large sections of the northern area into vast natural airfields and is permitting the American air forces and the RAF to bring their full strength into action.

On the political front in North Africa, two more French officials with Vichy connections were relieved of their posts. Affected were Col. Maurice Hervlot, who was replaced by Col. Ferdinand Taillardat as director of public security in French Morocco, and Gen. Robert Boisseau, relieved as commander of a French division stationed at Oran.

The destruction of seven axis vessels and the damaging of nine others by British submarines in the continuous war of the supply lines in the Mediterranean was announced meanwhile by the admiralty in London.

POLICE PLAY HOST TO STRANDED SERVICE MEN

Brockton, Mass., Houses Them Free of Charge.

By International News Service

BROCKTON, Mass.—Brockton police play host every week-end to soldiers and sailors who become stranded between their respective camps and homes. As many as 35 are housed free of charge.

Inspector Harry F. Kearns, in charge of the night shift, runs the headquarters like a real hotel and has been dubbed "hotel manager" by brother officers.

Service men seeking accommodations for the night register at the regular booking desk.

When a "guest" is properly identified, he is given a blanket, pillow, towel and soap and is assigned to a cot in the upper guardroom.

Once he is settled, the soldier or sailor can make himself at home in the station house. Magazines, books and a radio have been provided.

The Brockton service men's center cooperates with the police by serving breakfast to the boys about 7:30 each morning.

The police have dealth sternly with local drunks who have tried to invade the "hotel." These men have been hustled downstairs where they sleep in cold and uncomfortable cells.

IDEA WAS GOOD

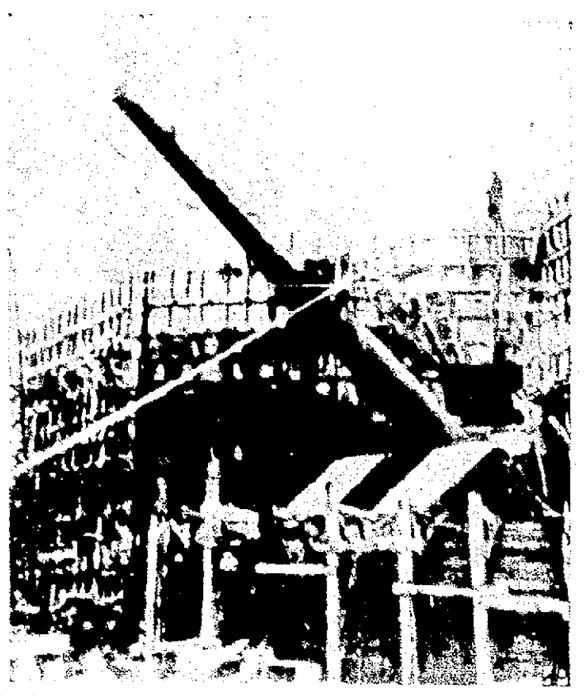
By The United Press

SAN JOSE, Calif.—Police Sergeant L. E. Gutpill planned to beat the meat shortage in perpetuity by purchasing a black doe rabbit that was about to litter, and building a nice rabbit run. But before the doe could make its first contribution, Sergeant Gutpill was summoned home by his wife to investigate the handicraft of some thief who apparently had the same idea.

TWO LUCKY BREAKS

By The United Press

BERKELEY, Calif.—Mrs. Grace Harris feels that she got two lucky breaks in a single wartime day. After standing in line for an hour she succeeded in securing a pot roast for the Sunday dinner. That was lucky break No. 1. Then she went to a shoe store and purchased two pairs of shoes at 5:59, a minute before closing time on Saturday. The next day, shoes were rationed. That was lucky break No. 2.



PREPARING FOR ALLIED INVASION? A camouflaged gun is being lowered into a huge concrete emplacement being built by the Nazis along the English channel coast, according to the caption on this picture which appeared in a recent issue of a German newspaper. A soldier atop the emplacement gives comparison in size. This picture was sent from London to the United States by radio.

Woman Writer Sees War

By RUTH COWAN
A. P. War Correspondent.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 21—(Delayed)—Pages from a woman war correspondent's notebook:

There was one comic sight in this war that a number of army privates won't forget — two colonels, a first lieutenant, a second lieutenant and two women war correspondents standing by a North African roadside trying to thumb a ride to get away from the German advance.

It must be confessed that the appeal of the two women, myself and Inez Robb, of International News Service, flopped, for it was one of the colonels who got the weapons carrier and command car in which we all raced over the mountains.

We had reached an evacuation hospital which was revamping itself into a front line hospital when Second Lieut. John E. Wheiden, of Newton Center, Mass., learned that the enemy was coming closer and started us back.

A courier auto was to take us and the two colonels, but it broke down. The air force needed everything on wheels but they got us up to a fork in the road at the edge of the airfield.

We stacked our luggage—bedrolls, knapsacks, typewriters—by the roadside, built a fire in a bomb crater and waited. Truck after truck was barreying up to the front. Empty trucks hurried back but the soldiers laughed at us.

The few civilian cars which sped past were loaded. Our courier, Lieut. Louis Adelman, of Chicago, went up ahead and tried to hire one of the busses coming back. No luck.

But one of the colonels found the weapons carrier and the air force sent a command car which could be spared for a while. The driver was Corporal Emil Jochim, a farmer, who lives near Lincoln, Neb.

Several hours later we reached a mountain town, spent the night in a villa, and next morning, hopped a ride on a transport, which Lieut. Weldon Johnson of San Bernardino, Calif., had flown from Dayton, O., across to Britain and then down here. And so we got away from the front.

The nurses and doctors at this hospital—and the volunteer staff includes a number of doctors from Roosevelt hospital in New York who had a five figure annual income from private practice—do their own laundry or else try to talk the laundry crew into doing it for them in their off hours "for a consideration."

The nurses—there are girls here from New York, Ohio, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and other states—do their laundry, including their uniforms, in large biscuit cans wheedled out of the mess sergeants. But if it is just a small laundry—a shirt, a few handkerchiefs—they use their steel helmets. Those helmets also come in handy as washbasins.

We don't get hot water out of a tap. It comes out of a biscuit tin on top of an oil heater.

HOTEL WHERE LINCOLN STOPPED NEGLECTED NOW

Mackinaw, Ill., Landmark Falling Apart; Stands Empty.

By International News Service

MACKINAW, Ill. — Mackinaw's landmark, Pendergast Inn, where Abe Lincoln used to stop while riding his circuit in central Illinois, has fallen to the ignominy of being wanted by no one.

Its joists and sills sag more and more. It no longer has a front door and every window pane has been treated to at least one barrage by boys about town.

A few years ago a civic minded group of citizens hoped to buy the inn and restore it as a Lincoln memorial. Title to the property then was held by a man in a state institution. By the time the group had struggled through legal red tape to acquire a transfer, the building had become so broken down that the sponsors of the memorial lost interest.

Last November, at a conservator's sale, a woman bought the building for $30, subject to approval of court. The court failed to approve and a second auction was held. Not one bid was heard.

SALES TAX GAINS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 4 — Led by women's apparel, sales tax collections for the week ended Feb. 20 totaled $990,280.83, a gain of $75,695.91 over the comparable 1942 week, Treasurer Don H. Albright reported today. Collections on women's wearing apparel for the week jumped 130.9 per cent, and shoes showed a gain of 24.6 per cent.

THIEF IN DANGER

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Whoever took an eight-inch shell, relic of World War I, from in front of the American Legion home here, really got himself something. J. Gilbert Jones, post commander, explained that the shell still contained a charge and spread a warning that if the thief weren't careful, he might be blown to kingdom come.

SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD MANAGER IS TRANSFERRED

N. C. Syracopoulos Becomes Manager at Warren.

Nicholas C. Syracopoulos, manager of the Marion field office of the Social Security Board, has taken over his duties as manager of the Warren field office, it was announced today at Cleveland by Miss Mary E. Woods, regional director of the agency for Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

The appointment was effective March 1 and Mr. Syracopoulos, his wife and son, have moved from their home on Thew avenue to Warren.

His successor here is expected to be announced next week.

Mr. Syracopoulos, who was made manager here in July of 1942, will succeed Harold W. Kramer who has been promoted to be manager of the office in Lansing, Mich.

Both appointments are in line with the policy of the social security board in advancing its civil service personnel as opportunity warrants, Miss Woods said.

Mr. Syracopoulos, a member of the bar in the District of Columbia and Ohio, served on the staff of the Akron and Hamilton field offices before coming to Marion.

Marion Co. Teams Lose in District Class B Tourney

St. Mary, Agosta, Prospect Drop First Games.

First Half

St. Mary started the scoring in the first quarter with Stanley Lawler completing a free throw and Danny McGowan registered on a follow up attempt. Moriarty in the period St. Mary led, 4-0, but the Columbus team forged away steadily at the short session, advantage and finally led, 16-9 at the quarter.

The locals rallied during the over and ran second Fields at Columbus built up a 14-9 lead a minute and a half after the quarter got underway. At this point the Irish defense and offense clicked with Columbus unable to score of fielders the remainder of the quarter while Danny McGowan, Don Moran and Jim Lawler accounted for 12 points. Moran's long shot put ahead of the halftime rest boosted St. Mary out in front, 21-20.

Upon resuming play University quickly tied the count on a foul shot by Parks and then went ahead, 22-21, as Parks added another charity goal. Lawler, McGowan and Moran again teamed

Lancaster failed to score in the first five minutes of the final period while Mt Gilead moved up within two points of tieing the game. McGee knotted the Lancaster Catholic five ahead, 34-30, on a clear range basket, but the Indians recovered on fouls by Davis and Neal and a field goal by Lee. Cavanaugh pushed Lancaster back into the lead on a long shot and Neal followed with a one-handed goal and then added a free throw awarded him on the play. Lancaster tried several long shots in the remaining eight seconds but failing to score.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 4 — Gus Welch, the old Carlisle football star now a coach at Georgetown Prep, has come up with a plan for "mass production" boxing in high schools under government supervision . . . We figure the schools can do their own job of supervising pretty well, but there's no doubt that school boxing—and wrestling—could do with a little encouragement. . . The Army and Navy can tell you about the value of these sports in learning a kid to take care of himself when he has to fight . . . The drawback always has been that too many parents confused boxing with professional fighting . . . There's a difference that anyone can see this week-end when they hold the eastern inter-collegiate tournament at Syracuse. The only person who ever appears hurt is the referee—when some fan can't wait for the end of the round to start cheering.

Short Sport Story—When Coach Johnny Harlowe of Columbus, West High school heard of the Smith mine disaster at Bear Creek, he left his basketball team flat and donned a miner's shirt to go to work with the rescue crew. His father, Sam, is one of the 72 miners still entombed.

The Biz Drip—(Headline): Allentown, Pa., police use tear gas to quell basketball riot.)

The basketball fans were whooping it up.
And the referee turned quite pale,
When in came the cops armed with tear gas pumps
And threatened to fling them in jail.
With tears in their eyes and hate in their hearts
The wolves continued to howl,
But the losing team's coach,
with a moan of despair,
Merely resigned for his crying towel.

Today's Guest Star—Bill Reddy, Syracuse, N. Y., Post-Standard: "The Army already has moved in on football at Syracuse university. The county quarters formerly occupied by Coach Ossie Solem and his assistants have become war college headquarters. Ossie has moved to a smaller room next door. If your mind runs that way, it could be called symbolic."

TOLEDO U. WINS IN GARDEN GAME; ADDS TO OHIO TITLE CLAIM

Powers Boost Chances for National Tourney Bid by Subduing Long Island.

By The Associated Press

The University of Toledo Rockets took the Long Island University championship quintet by a 44-39 count last night and were considered favorites over the Blackbirds this afternoon as well.

The all-Toledo-Marion Rockets, carrying the prestige of Buckeye basketball supremacy on their shoulders, trounced their Long Island opponents in their first game of the season. Toledo's Rockets, who have a record of 10 games won and 2 lost, displayed a smooth offense and a defense that was impregnable at times.

One More Game

Long Island University, champions of the Brooklyn area, have but one more game to play before the Rockets go to Madison Square Garden to play Seton Hall Preparatory school of Newark, N. J., Saturday night. A win at LaSalle would give the Toledoans title of permanent owners of the Ohio section, a title behind Capital, Xavier and Miami, but Coach Powers says that the Rockets have played only 12 games this season and the slight difference in the number of games they have played—Miami has played 15 games—is hardly more than enough for the Rockets' title claims. A victory over LaSalle is, on the other hand, would put the Toledoans way out front.

Last night's game, part of a double-header in which St. John's of Brooklyn defeated New York University 37 to 33, also might give the Rockets' hope for a bid to the National Invitational tournament.

The Toledoans played without their scoring ace, Deriage Mann, who was out with a broken hand and were without their six-foot six-inch center, Jim Glass, the last 14 minutes. Glass was ejected from the game for too many personal fouls.

Sets Scoring Pace

Guard Bob Bolgard, whose long set shots early in the game helped open up the Islanders zone defense, paced the Toledo scoring with 17 points. Long Island's diminutive guard, Elmore Collins, was high for the evening, however, with 21 counters.

In the only game on Ohio hardwoods last night, the University of Cincinnati wound up its season with a 61-37 triumph over neighboring Xavier. Cincinnati finished with a record of 10 wins and nine losses, Xavier with 5 victories against 10 defeats.

Hershey Idle But Cops American Hockey Title

By The Associated Press

The American hockey league pennant is flying from a Hersney mast head today. Although idle, the Bears automatically clinched the flag last night when the Pittsburgh Hornets mathematically eliminated the Buffalo Bisons, by holding the Bisons to a 3-3 tie.

This left the Bisons with 59 points to Hershey's 72 and since Buffalo has only six more games left to play, the title tussle ended there. It was the Bears' first pennant since they have been in the league.

In the only other contest of the evening, the Washington Lions nosed out the Cleveland Barons, 5-4.

Rural Electric Co-op Meeting Held at Kenton

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 4—At the annual meeting of the United Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., a firm operating more than 400 miles of rural electric line in Hardin and adjacent counties, the patrons re-elected a nine-member board of trustees then changed by-laws to permit election of three men next March for three-year terms, three others for two years, and the other three for one year each.

The trustees, O. C. Powell, John W. Fleming, S. Brooks Horn, Holmes B. Lingo, Roy C. Baker, Elmer T. Schearer, J. B. Scogin, Howard C. Overly and John A. Williams will meet Monday evening, March 8, to elect officers. Powell at present is president, Fleming is vice president, Horn, secretary and Lingo, treasurer.

A financial report indicated that the co-op has made advance payments of more than $70,000 on its indebtedness in the past 2½ years—$30,000 of it last year.

AIR RAIDS

... against the British coast for the first and strongest attack on London and other areas, but only 4% of this force reached London, an air ministry communique said. The second raid was made by a smaller force and few of those planes reached the city. It was announced.

There were a number of casualties, ... "nowhere was the damage extensive" the communique said. Three of the German raiders were declared destroyed.

Planes Over London

The German planes appeared over London just late last evening and returned again about 4:30 a. m. today. A terrific anti-aircraft barrage greeted the first attack, which kept the city under alarm for approximately 90 minutes. The second lasted little more than an hour.

The Berlin radio, taking wide advantage of the German raid on London, said "great devastation" had been caused and many high explosives and thousands of incendiary bombs were dropped. All German planes returned safely, the German account said.

A number of casualties were reported in one London district following the first raid. One commentator described the German effort as "a damp squib."

Ration Gives Indication of Hardin Co. Population

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 4—Hardin county's population is down approximately 1,600 from the 27,061 figure of the latest census if the rationing figures released yesterday by Clerk Louise Showe is any criterion.

During the period for registration for War Ration Book No. 2, 8,722 Hardin countians filed declarations and received books for 25,433 persons. This is in keeping with recent observations that many local men and women are moving to neighboring cities to obtain war work, leaders explained.

Declarations listed a total of 18,744 excess cans of produce and 304 excess pounds of coffee.

SMASHING OF CONVOY DISRUPTS JAP PLANS

Undersecretary Patterson Reviews U. S. War Situation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Japanese plans "for the coming campaign in the south Pacific" have been disrupted by the smashing of their Bismarck sea convoy, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson said today.

Reviewing the past week of the war, Patterson told his press conference, continued good news from all fronts was eclipsed by the brilliant victory that left all 22 enemy ships sunk or burning and 55 enemy aircraft shot down in a two-day battle.

On other fronts, he had these reports:

Developments in Tunisia continue to be favorable with the axis thrust in central Tunisia repelled and the German command evidently concerned over the vigor of allied counter attacks.

Allied airmen have scored striking successes in the Mediterranean with repeated attacks on axis positions in Italy, Sicily, Sardinia and Tunisia.

BUYING PUSHES WHEAT PRICES UP

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 4 — Mill and commission house buying pushed wheat to new highs since the 1928-29 crop year today, but considerable resistance was encountered around $1.49 for the May future and prices backed down later in the session.

The strength in wheat extended to other pits, with most deliveries of oats and rye establishing new seasonal peaks. Corn was bid at ceilings.

Orson Welles To Take Over Benny Spot 2 Weeks

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 4 — Jack Benny listeners, tuning in for him as usual on two of March's Sunday nights, won't get him. Instead there will be actor Orson Wells trying out comedy radio.

Jack, after his Sunday broadcast from St. Joseph, Mo., will take advantage of the two weeks' mid-season layoff provided for in his contract. Welles will run the show on March 14 and 21, using the full Benny cast.

Some time after he concludes the Benny trick, Welles expects to go into the Army.

A program survey checkup of President Roosevelt's Washington birthday broadcast, as made by cooperative analysis of broadcasting, reported it was heard by 48 per cent of the radio set owners in the country compared with 67 per cent for the President's Lincoln Day speech, which was considerably longer than the Washington day talk.

U. S. Experts Learn Jap Secrets from Captured Plane

By ROY G. BLANCK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — A captured Japanese Zero fighter plane is yielding many secrets of Nipponese psychology and technics to U. S. experts at the Anacostia Naval Air station, where it is being submitted to minute tests and study.

The plane, salvaged in the Aleutian islands, is a machine of no compromise. Utterly unprotected by armor, the Zero's pilot knows when he steps into its diminutive cockpit that there is no alternative for him in battle but to kill or be killed.

In this instance, he was killed.

The only Zero fighter the Navy ever announced capturing, it is a light, swift, maneuverable, efficient machine meant for aerial jiu-jitsu. In the air it is as agile as a "jeep" on the ground. It is armed with two machine-guns that shoot between its three-bladed propellor, and with 22 millimeter cannon that fire from the forward edge of either wing.

The Zero can travel at around 300 miles an hour, but a single tracer bullet will set its gas tank afire. Bullets can pierce it wherever they hit.

When a Zero pilot "gives her the gun," he does so both literally and actually. For, on the throttle there is a thumb-button that starts the guns firing.

As he goes after an enemy, the Jap pilot opens the throttle, and, with the same hand, moves a button one way which starts the two small 7.7 machine-guns spraying tracer-bullets. When he sees the tracers approaching the target he moves the thumb-button the other way and the cannon let go. They can fire 60 rounds each, and the 7.7 guns 500 rounds apiece.

The pilot's parachute rip-cord is attached to his plane. If he has to jump it opens automatically. If the plane is shot down and throws him out as it flips over, the parachute opens.

The Jap may have a hand grenade. If so, he waits until rescuers surround him. Then he pulls the firing-pin and blows up himself and everybody else within range.

MARKET HOLDS HIGH GROUND

Rail Leaders Push Up to New Peaks for Year or More.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 4 — Stock market activity continued at a high level today as many industrial and rail leaders pushed up fractions to around a point to new peaks for a year or more.

There was a substantial accumulation of buying orders at the opening and brokers thought a good number had been entered because of the market's buoyant action yesterday. Heavy profit selling slowed the advance near the end of the first hour. Rails, air transports, steels and industrial specialties showed the best gains near the fourth hour.

Rail loans continued their rise in the bond market. Commodities were irregular.

Favored shares included Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Case, Goodrich, Eastern Air Lines, Transcontinental & Western Air, Westinghouse, DuPont, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Owens-Illinois, Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Q. In what names may a War Savings Bond be issued?

A. War Bonds can be registered only in the names of individuals in their own right, in one of the following formats:
1. The name of one individual, or
2. The names of two individuals, as co-owners, or
3. The name of one individual as owner and the other individual as beneficiary.

Q. May a Bond be registered in the name of a minor?

By C. D. Crockett.

A. Yes.

Q. How can I buy a Bond by mail from agencies other than a post office?

A. Write to the Treasurer of the United States for an order form or send a letter with a check to the Treasury Department or to a Federal Reserve bank stating number and denominations of Bonds wanted and giving complete instructions as to the desired registration.

Q. Can Bonds be attached for debt in case of a judgment?

A. Yes. The right to receive payment of a Bond may be transferred through valid judicial proceedings, but only if the Bond itself is surrendered to the Treasury Department. See Treasury Department Circular No. 530, Fifth Revision.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

FIRST NURSE on Guadalcanal since the war began is Lt. Mae Olson (above), of Little Falls, Minn., one of 24 Army nurses recruited from ranks of airlines hostesses. She visited the island in an ambulance plane which took away wounded soldiers. She is shown here in training at Bowman Field, near Louisville, Ky.

RED CROSS CANTEEN ARRIVES IN MARION

Open to Public Until 8 O'clock Tonight.

The official Red Cross mobile canteen kitchen which was opened for inspection this morning at 11 in front of the courthouse will remain open for visits by the public until 8 tonight.

War workers and persons working on the Red Cross war fund campaign are urged especially to visit the kitchen tonight.

The kitchens are on 24-hour call to any locality where a disaster resulting from war or other causes may create an emergency feeding problem. While awaiting such calls the kitchen answers calls of the local chapters of the Red Cross for public inspections, trial feedings and participation in parades and public rallies. It is one of two built and maintained by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. for operation by local Red Cross units in the territory served by the company.

WELFARE DIRECTOR FACES RATION WOES

37,000 Inmates of State Institutions Affected.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 4—Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood finds himself today in the hapless position of the old woman who lived in a shoe—because of ration points.

Like the storied shoe tenant with her multiple brood, Sherwood admittedly is approaching the "don't know what to do" stage.

He directs the feeding and housing of Ohio's largest "family," some 37,000 persons in 22 institutions. And there's the added task of providing maintenance for 3,000 institutional employes.

Point rationing applies to institutions, but the number of food points is figured on the 3,720,000 meals institutions served during last December. Each serving counts for six-tenths of one point value.

Thus during March, Sherwood—as chief housekeeper—will have 2,160,000 food points on which to feed the 40,000 inmates and employes.

To top off the welfare chief's woes, no bids were received by the department for the March butter supply—and other staples are unavailable for institutional use this month. Then, too, coffee stocks are fading despite once daily servings in institutions and the addition of substitutes to "stretch" the coffee supply.

Infant Daughter Of Marion Couple Dies

Shirley Louise Searles, 18-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Searles of 230 Park boulevard, died in City hospital at 7 p. m. yesterday, eight and one-half hours after admittance there. She had been in frail health since premature birth two and one-half weeks ago.

Military Situation in China Improves

By The Associated Press

CHUNGKING, March 4 — A brighter picture of the military situation in China was painted today by a Chinese army spokesman, who said Japanese drives in Kiangsu and Kiangsi provinces had more or less failed, while in western Yunnan the enemy's thrusts on the Salween front had been checked.

Whether the Japanese will launch their threatened all-out offensive now depends on whether enemy reserves being held at various points are thrown into action, the spokesman declared.

Japanese troops at present engaged in operations on the various fronts "appear to have lost their fighting spirit," he added.

Galion School Board Studies Pay Problem

Special to The Star

GALION, March 4 — The appointment of a committee to study the teacher salary schedule with the idea of revising it, if possible, was made by the Galion board of education Wednesday.

Board members, Louise John and Mrs. Charles B. Monroe, together with M. A. Povenmire, superintendent of schools, were named by the board to serve with two members of the Classroom Teachers association. The C. T. A. will name its representatives.

The board clerk, Isabel Monroe, presented a financial report. This showed a balance of $4,751.92 as of Feb. 1.

The janitorial vacancy, made by the resignation of C. B. Carleton, will not be filled until after March 12 when a civil service examination will be held.

The board voted to go back on the previous schedule of opening school for the elementary grades at 8:45 a. m., instead of the 9 a. m. opening now in effect. This will become effective March 15.

CANDLES IN USE

By The United Press

SULLIVAN, Me. — Candles are the world's last lighted sights along the Maine coast from Cape Cod. When it was discovered that gas lanterns were too bright to meet dimout regulations, Hancock county mill fishermen substituted candles. Despite the dimout, Surry Bay fishermen report an unusually good season, with an individual average of 165 smelts caught daily.
